Five Articles.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(By the Associated Press.—Formal articles of impeachment against Federal Judge George W. English of the Eastern Illinois district, were presented to the house today by its judiciary committee.

The articles were five in number and were based on evidence presented at prolonged hearings. A minority of the committee held this evidence insufficient and recommended against impeachment.

Article 1 charged the jurist with the abuse of the powers of his office and with "tyranny and oppression, whereby he has brought the administration of justice into disrepute."

Article 2 charged that he was guilty of a course "of improper and unlawful conduct," filled with "partiality and favoritism resulting in the creation of a combination to control and manage, with Charles B. Thomas, referee in bankruptcy, for their own intersts and profits," the bankruptcy affairs of the Eastern district of Illinois.

SMOOT PLEADS ADOPTION OF ITALIAN PLAN

Asks Senate Not to Make Settlement "Football of Partisan Politics" or Consider Criticism of Mussolini and Fascism.

SAYS SCHEME BASED ON CAPACITY TO PAY

Declares Debtor Nation to Pay $1,600,000,000 Principal, $800,000,000 Interest; Calls Morgan Loan Not Worth Discussing.

WASHINGTON, March 25.— (By The Associated Press.)—Chairman Smoot of the finance committee pleaded today with the senate not to make the Italian debt settlement the "football of partisan politics" or to let its judgment be "warped by fervent criticisms" of Mussolini, the fascisti and their policies.

Calling up the bill to ratify the settlement of Italy's war debt to this country, the Utah senator declared Italy had agreed to pay not only the principal of her debt of $1,600,000,000, but $800,000,000 of interest as well.

Senator Smoot, who is a member of the American debt commission, declared this settlement was upon more liberal terms than that of the subsequent British-Italian agreement and that it was based upon Italy's capacity to pay, in the determination of which American and Italian economic experts were in practical accord.

CONVICT PAIR IN LIQUOR CASE

Federal Jury Finds Vinciquerra-Haning Guilty Of Conspiracy.

A jury in Federal court at 2 o'clock this afternoon returned a verdict finding Louise Vinciquerra and Earl Haning guilty of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. Leniency as to Mrs. Vinciquerra was recommended by the jurors. The hearing in federal court ended late Wednesday afternoon and the case was given to the jury shortly after 4 o'clock.

Louise Vinciquerra and Earl Haning were tried on an indictment alleging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. The pair was arrested by Federal Agent Karl Schmitt. William Jamieson of Omaha, attorney for the defendants, said in his final argument that it was his opinion that the government had not produced sufficient evidence to warrant a verdict of guilty. It was his contention that Mrs. Vinciquerra had no knowledge of the liquor being in the car at the time of the arrest, and that therefore no conspiracy could have existed.

SHIP IN DISTRESS.

"INFORMER" IS SHOT TO DEATH

Chicagoan Killed Sleeping; Suspected of Betraying Robber Band.

CHICAGO, March 25—(By the Associated Press.)—Robert Lafferty, 24, suspected of revealing to police the hiding place of William J. White and Thomas Shupe, held as alleged members of a robber band, was shot to death while he lay asleep early today.

The murder was committed by two men who gained admittance to the basement apartment by posing as policemen when Lafferty's father answered their knock on the door. A dozen bullets were fired into Lafferty's body and the slayers escaped before the father could interfere.

Police are convinced the slaying removed an important witness against White and Shupe. White has been identified as the slayer of a suburban motorcycle policeman and as a member of bands which staged robberies netting more than $171,000.

Shupe, said to be White's pal, has a long criminal record, police say. Both are believed ot have participated in the recent $80,000 payroll holdup at a plant of the International Harvester Co.

OFFICER TO FACE CHARGE

Complaint Will Be Filed Against Fred L. Johnson, Held For Fatally Shooting Columbus School Boy At Osceola.

CORONER'S JURY SAYS OFFICER FIRED SHOT

Defendant Claims That Girl Clung to Him As He Pursued Boys and That This Caused Deflection of Aim.

OSCEOLA, Neb., March 25. —(By the Associated Press.) — The coroner's jury, which inquired into the cause of the death of Herbert Cochran, Columbus junior high school student, early this afternoon returned a verdict to the effect that the youth came to his death as the result of a gunshot wound from a revolver held in the hand of Fred I. Johnson. There was no recommendation.

Immediately after the verdict had been returned County Attorney E E. Stanton stated that he would during the afternoon file a complaint against Johnson, charging him with manslaughter.

Incidents leading to the fatal shooting of Cochran by Special Deputy Fred L. Johnson here last Saturday night when the youth failed to stop for arrest on charges of gambling, were recited by thirteen witnesses before a coroner's jury here this morning.

Testimony this morning revolved about the alleged interference of Miss Bernice Martis, who was with the party of four boys and four girls during the dice game which was disrupted by Johnson.

Johnson said the girl clung to him when, he attempted to chase the boys and she deflected his aim so that the bullet struck and killed Cochran. Twelve other witnesses, including Cochran's chums and others, who said they witnessed the shooting said Johnson held onto the girl and that she was struggling to release herself.

Says Was Deputized.

Johnson, who was brought here from York, this morning, said he had been deputized by Sheriff Van Hoosen shortly before the shooting.

"A little while after Sheriff Van Hoosen went home and instructed me to do duty. I was informed that a crap game was going on near the Osceola bank corner. I went over there, watched two hands, grabbed the Martis girl and told the boys they were under arrest. They immediately started to run, and I started to chase them. Seeing I could not catch them, I decided to scare them, so I levelled my gun above their heads. The Martis girl held on and just as I shot my aim was deflected. I went over to the Cochrane boy and as soon as I saw what had happened I called Sheriff Van Hoosen."

The Martin girl, however, said she did not hang onto Johnson, but struggled vainly to free herself.

The jury postponed deliberations for lunch at noon and returned the from lunch.

SHARP IS HELD FOR TRIAL IN WIFE'S DEATH

Bound Over After Hearing On First Degree Murder Charge.

Information Filed In District Court; May Be Arraigned Saturday.

An information charging Frank Sharp with the murder of his wife, Harriette, on March 16 was filed Thursday morning in District court, just a day after Sharp had pleaded not guilty to the charge before a Municipal judge.

"We are ready for trial today," asserted County Attorney Matson. There will be no delay to gather more evidence, he stated, and proceedings will be pushed for an early trial. The next District court jury is called for April 12.

It is probable that Sharp will be arraigned before a District judge Satuday. The information, which is nearly a duplicate of the complaint filed in Municipal court, was to be served on him Thursday.

Frank E. Sharp was bound over to the district court without bail Tuesday afternoon after he pleaded not guilty to a charge of first degree murder when arraigned for preliminary hearing in Municipal court.

Attempts by Richard Stout, attorney for the defendant, to have Sharp bound over on a charge of second degree murder failed.

W. A. Hawes, acting Municipal judge, said:

"The question of the degree of murder charged comes under the jurisdiction of the district court. In view of the evidence offered this court will hold that there is probable cause to believe the defendant guilty as charged, and he is therefore bound over to the district court and is ordered committed to confinement, without bail, until time for trial."

Eight witnesses were heard by the court in a session lasting more than two hours. Testimony as to relations between the defendant and

NEWENS HEAD OF STATE MUSICIANS

Floyd Robbins Is Made Secretary-Treasurer Of Organization.

OMAHA, March 25.—(AP)—Adrian M. Newens, Lincoln, director of the University School of Music, was unanimously elected president of the Nebraska State Music association in the closing session of the three day convention here Wednesday. Other officers elected were: Albert Scievers, University Place of Wesleyan university music department, vice president, and Floyd Robbins, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer. Lincoln was chosen as the 1927 convention city.

Master music classes will be continued in the next convention, it was decided at the business meeting, but the personnel of the artists conducting the classes was left to the selection of the committee in charge of the Lincoln meeting.

Discussion that grew heated in the business session, centered about a resolution favoring recognition of accredited teachers that would allow pupils studying under these teachers credit in their high school courses. It was pointed out that little headway has been made in attempting to get recognition through the state superintendent of schools, although a committee report expressed the favor of the fine arts college of the University of Nebraska.

Modern educational methods were blamed for the failure to develop an artistic temperament and appreciation in the majority of American people by Herbert Witherspoon, president of the Chicago Music college, in addressing the convention.

Individuality Not Developed.

Mr. Witherspoon deplored the fact that American youth is not allowed to develop his own particular individuality.

"In schools for a group education, he is trained the way we want him to be, not the way he is suited to be," he said. "Schooling becomes a memory test with the ultimate aim a diploma or degree. Three years after the aim is achieved, a college graduate could not pass an examination on his studies to save his life.

"During the last thirty years, education for the purpose of training has been eliminated from the school curriculum, and in its place has come the idea of specialization in which the student is allowed his own course, chosing what he desires Too often this type of education becomes the choosing of the easiest course and results in the queerest jumble of courses imginable."

PLAN TO CUT OBLIGATIONS TO $850,000

Payment of $1,486,515 Of Receivers' Certificates Will Decrease Liabilities Of State Guaranty Fund to Comparatively Small Sum.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT NOTICES ARE SENT OUT

Will Bring $700,000 Into Fund to Be Used With $49,000 Proceeds From Failed Banks and $1,286,287 Now On Hand.

After paying off $1,486,515 of receivers' certificates against failed state banks in Nebraska, early in April, the amount of such obligations to be met in future have been reduced by the state trade and commerce department to about $850,000. At present, there are certificates outstanding in the total amount of $2,250,000, more or less.

Trade and Commerce Secretary Griggs is sending out notices to over 800 solvent banks that a special assessment of one-fourth of 1 per cent on their average deposits has been levied for payment on or before April 6, to help pay off the certificates and stop interest on them at 6 per cent. This assessment will bring $700,000 more into the guaranty fund, which now contains $1,286,287.

The fund is being further swelled to the extent of $284,837 through a collective refund which the guaranty fund commission is making to it from the proceeds of assets belonging to 39 failed banks.

This will make a total of $2,271,000, in round numbers, in the guaranty fund when the special assessment is collected, and will leave $834,000 on hand after Secretary Griggs has paid off the $1,486,515 of receivers' certificates. There is $49,126 of cash now in the hands of receivers, which will be used to supplement the guaranty fund payment, making the amount actually drawn from the guaranty fund $1,437,389.

$13,800,000 Paid.

Money has already been paid to depositors in failed banks for the amount of receivers' certificates outstanding. The fund has been drawn upon at different times for a grand total of $13,800,000, according to Secretary Griggs' records Of that amount, $12,800,000 was paid into the fund by state banks, and the other million was realized from the assets of suspended banks.

Secretary Griggs calls attention to the fact that the state banks

AN AMERICAN DANCER SLAIN

Miss Alice Fitzner, 20, Of Detroit, Killed At Berlin By Her Fiance, John Goodrich, 22, Of Monroe, N. H., Medical Student.

Shootings, In a Taxicab, Supposed To Have Been Result Of Jealousy Due To Girl's Alleged Infatuation For a Russian Dancer.

BERLIN, March 25—(I. N. S.)—Aroused to a murderous fury by her flirtations, John Goodrich, 22, a medical student of Monroe, N. H., early today shot and killed Alice Fitzner, 20, of Detroit, his fiancee, and then took his own life.

The shooting occurred in a taxicab in which the couple were returning from a restaurant where Goodrich had caused a scene by violently expressing himself on the subject of Miss Fitzner's alleged infatuation for a Russian dancer.

Miss Fitzner, the police said, had for some time sought to break the engagement with Goodrich because of her love for the Russian.

Miss Fitzner had been earning her livelihood as a dancer.

Goodrich and Miss Fitzner had been betrothed for some time. Several weeks ago the girl's enthusiasm for an early wedding disappeared when she fell deeply in love with M. Baisilieff, a Russian dancer, appearing at the Grosses Schauspielhaus.

Promised Star Role.

Herr Rosen, director of the theater, was enthusiastic about Miss Fitzner, promising her a star role soon.

The future was roseate for the young dancer until she met the Russian.

Patrolman Resigns After Alleged Burglar Gives Him the Slip.

Officer Curtis Roper, patrolman, resigned from the Lincoln police force Thursday. After a conference with Chief of Police Peter Johnstone, Officer Roper turned in his resignation and drew his check at the city clerk's office.

Neither Chief Johnstone nor Roper would make a statement as to the cause of the resignation. The officer was under discussion, it is understood, because of a burglar who escaped from the Robertson Furniture Company Tuesday night. Roper had been posted there to watch the alley exit of the building. The man jumped from a window, ran down a nalley, and escaped after Roper had chased him two blocks.

Roper had been on the night force since October 16, 1925.

Chief Johnstone said he expected to have a new patrolman either Thursday or Friday.

Widow Of Former Nebraskan Is Charged With Poisoning Him

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., March 25.—Tragedy has overtaken Walden Crumroy, 13-year-old pupil in the Alcott school, who came here recently to make his home with his aunt, Mrs. F. S. Baumgartner, 320 East Sixth street.

Walden has been called to Rupert, Ida., to serve as a material witness against his stepmother who is accused of poisoning his father.

The father died in October, 1925, after an illness of ten days. His malady was diagnosed as the flu but suspicions of neighbors were aroused because his illness had shown no alarming symptoms until a few minutes before his death.

"It was rumored at the time of his funeral that there was something peculiar about Carl's death," Mrs. Baumgartner, a sister of the dead man, said today, "but she seemed to take it so awfully hard and insisted upon doing everything so nicely at the funeral that it just didn't seem possible that she could have been responsible in any way.

"Rumors persisted, however, and finally about six weeks ago, my brothers took the matter up with authorities. People were called in and questioned and finally the county attorney ordered my brother's body exhumed. They found enough poison in his stomach to kill two men, and his wife was arrested and formally charged with murder.

"Walden was called to appear as a material witness at the preliminary at which Mrs. Crumroy was bound over to the district court for trial in October, and in the meantime he is being held in the home of the judge. Walden is allowed to go wherever he wishes but some older member of the judge's family always accompanies him so that no one may reach him and influence him in the case against his stepmother," Mrs Baumgartner explained.

Carl Crumroy, the slain man, formerly lived at Wellfleet, Neb, moving with his family to Rupert, Ida., about eight years ago. His wife, the mother of his three children, died there four years ago, and he married the present Mrs. Crumroy about a year ago.

The daughter, Warrine Crumroy, has lived in Hastings since some time before her father's marriage and has been working at Sunnyside for more than a year. The other son, Irvin, 23, worked on a farm near Rupert. Only the younger boy, Walden, was at home after the marriage.

The boy, said to be a very good student in his class work here, has told his aunt here a number of things which are believed to have some bearing in the case and to have caused his close confinement to prevent others from influencing him out in Rupert.

SENATE REJECTS GOODING BILL BY A 46 TO 33 VOTE

Inter-Mountain Region Again Loses Fight On Lower Long Haul Rates.

Party Lines Disappear In Ballot; Introducer Still Charges a Lobby.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The senate yesterday rejected, 46 to 33, the Gooding long and short haul bill.

Thus representatives of the inter-mountain territory again lost in their forty-year fight to prevent transcontinental carriers from granting a lower rate for hauls to Pacific coast ports than to intermediate points.

Two years ago the senate passed a similar measure, 54 to 23, but it failed of action in the house.

Senators from every section of the country were divided on the measure, which was nonpartisan in nature. Two senators from the inter-mountain territory—Phipps and Means of Colorado—voted against the bill. Likewise there were divisions among senators from the south, the middlewest, west and east.

Recent Decision Cited.

The recent decision of the interstate commerce commission denying seven transcontinental railroads permission to invoke the long and short haul principle in rate revisions to permit them to meet water transportation competition was cited repeatedly by opponents of the bill as evidence that it was not necessary.

Proponents of the bill on the other hand charged during debate that a "powerful railroad lobby" was at work to defeat it. Senator Gooding of Idaho, who introduced it, declared that if the bill were defeated, the railroad lobby must be credited with accomplishing his objective, but many senators held the interstate commerce commission's rate making discretionary powers should not be transferred to congress.

The bill would not have disturbed present rates in which the long and short haul principle had been invoked, but would have prevented the interstate commerce commission from revising rates in the future to provide for a larger tariff on short intermediate hauls.

Claim Drive Against Canal.

Proponents of the measure charged that transcontinental railroads, in requesting permission for decreased rates to coast terminals, were attempting to wreck Panama Canal traffic. It was argued that if rates were revised to permit the railroads to obtain a share of the traffic now moving through the canal, there would be nothing to prevent them from obtaining the entire traffic.

Opponents of the bill intend congress should not take from the interstate commerce commission discretionary powers of adjusting rates to permit rail carriers to meet water competition because the "commissioners are experts, while any decision made by congress would be tinged with politics."

Proponents of the measure argued that the railroads and Chicago interests were hampering the industrial development of the west, particularly the inter-mountain region, while opponents said enactment of the bill would not change the existing rate schedules and thus would not bring relief, but might even bring increased rates to the inter-mountain districts.

Later Returns Swell Victory For Senator Norbeck

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 25—(AP)—The South Dakota primary which swept Senator Peter Norbeck, republican, into nomination, gave him the largest vote that has ever been cast for an individual in a senatorial nominating election in this state.

His unofficial vote last night was 1,000 more than that cast for the principal candidate in the primary two years ago and 500 rural precincts, where the senator's strength is said to lie, are still to be accounted for.

In 1,353 of the state's 1,898 precincts, the senator had 46,282 votes against 21,875 for his opponent, George J. Danforth, Sioux Falls attorney. He was leading by substantial majorities in all of the fifty-two republican counties.

Although Danforth is considered a "stalwart" republican and Senator Norbeck a progressive—numbered among the insurgents in congress—he declared his nomination was a victory for farm relief legislation rather than for progressivism over "old line" republicans.

Gov. Carl Gunderson, republican, was running about 5,000 votes behind Senator Norbeck, on whose ticket he was, but his victory over C. E. Coyne, Fort Pierre, for renomination was hardly less impressive. In the 1,363 precincts, Gunderson polled 41,842 votes against 27,003 for Coyne.

The democrats apparently have nominated J. J. Bulow, Beresford, a "Jeffersonian," for the gubernatorial nomination, in preference to R. O. Richards.

No British Hysterics.
A Chinese Lexington.
Thicker Than Rubber.
Where Is Lock Ah-Tam?

By Arthur Brisbane.

Bermondsey, one of the boroughs of the city of London, decides through its town council, to fly a red flag, instead of the British union jack over the town hall.

Another London borough, Battersea, inhabited, like Bermondsey, by British working people, largely discontented, set the red flag example.

The British don't have hysterics over an incident of this kind, and don't try to put everybody in jail, or otherwise act childishly. On the contrary, they say, "If you want a red flag, go ahead and have it."

Wise Britishers know that foolishness is less dangerous if you give it rope.

Ten months ago Chinese students were shot down in Shanghai by the European police in the "international settlement."

You are told that this shooting will be as important in history as the shot fired at Lexington in 1776, but that's a mistake. Shooting a few students in a nation of 500,000,000, overwhelmingly illiterate, is sad, but not important, historically.

Four hundred million of the 500,000,000 Chinese have probably not yet heard about the shooting and never will hear of it. It is average intelligence that makes events important.

Those that have worried because American business is getting "too big" may soon worry because American business is not big enough in Europe.

Blood is thicker than water. Britain and the United States are friendly. But blood is not thicker than rubber, and the British have been taxing us thoroughly and legitimately through their gigantic rubber monopoly, with government assistance.

Now comes a great European steel trust, not limited to Britain, but taking in France, England, Germany, Belgium, and leaving out the United States. All European nations concentrated on iron and steel production during the war. Now the allies unite with Germany to make that production profitable.

United States Steel earned enough to pay $12 a share on the common stock, and the company has more than $500,000,000 in cash reserve.

If things do not get worse, the big steel company might pay out $100 cash per share of common stock, and then go on earning $12 a share. But don't let that make you speculate in steel stocks, or anything else. Big cash reserves are necessary and things may get worse.

A highly philanthropic Chinese merchant, Lock Ah-Tam, lived in Liverpool, where he had married a Welsh girl who gave him two daughters. They were 20 and 17 years old, when, in the midst of a family celebration, for no apparent reason he killed them and their mother.

The British, who take murder seriously, therefore, have comparatively few murders, hanged Mr. Lock Ah-Tam. He said "I shall shortly join my loved ones, and they will understand."

By this time Lock Ah-Tam is in heaven, if he is ever going there, and if he is there, the loved ones must be glad that there is no marrying or death in that abode.

Ambassador Houghton is criticized because he tells the truth to the American people about conditions in Europe. Had he whispered his private information into the ears of a few carefully chosen financiers, he wouldn't be criticised. Many of our "better minds" are convinced that the less the American people know the better.

French francs fell yesterday below 3½ cents each, a long drop from prewar value, 19 3-10 cents. Speculators who expect the French franc to follow the German mark will be disappointed.

With reasonable economy in armaments, an end to financing Poland and other allies, and with reasonable taxation, the French will bring the franc back as rapidly as they choose. To sell France short is dangerous.

Money talks, and says it thinks light wine and beer, or at least light beer, will come back. Old breweries are bought by far-seeing gentlemen and will be put in condition to produce real beer that the human system can absorb and digest instead of the "needle" poison, sold by injecting poisonous alcohol into non-alcoholic beer.

Citizens buy and drink beer "with a kick." The kick comes from denatured alcohol sold at gasoline stations to prevent freezing. Bootleggers redstill the non-freezing product, take out part of the poison and inject the rest into the beer.

CANADIAN POLICE TAKE N. J. HOUSE

Man Wanted In Broken Bow Is Captured at Vancouver, B. C.

Confesses To Embezzling Large Sum and Willing to Return.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., March 25.—(AP)—Nathaniel J. House, Broken Bow insurance man and secretary of the Public Service club, confessed the embezzlement of between $30,000 and $35,000 when arrested by detectives at Vancouver, B. C yesterday, authorities here have been informed.

Sheriff V. C. Talbot of Custer county, upon word of the arrest, left for Vancouver late last night. House waived extradition and Sheriff Talbot hopes to bring him back to face the embezzlement charges within a week.

In a statement asserted to have been given out by House to police and newspapermen with his arrest, House said that he had taken little by little until he could not make up the losses. He then said he fled from Broken Bow to Norfolk on February 4, then crossed the international border, made stops at Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Moosejaw, Calgary and then up to Vancouver, where he assumed the alias of R. M. Barklew.

"It is the old story," police quoted him as saying. "I lived beyond my means. It was easy when handling the money of others to use it, with the best intentions in the world of making good. I got deeper and deeper, with no hope of making immediate restitution and in a panic fled.

Brought No Benefit.

"My crime has not benefitted me, for today I possess but $170 cash and I don't know what assets I have in the east. I am only too desirous to get back and face the issue. It is not my intention to fight extradition, but I wish to return at once, and meet those I have wronged and endeavor to aid them in recovering something from the wreck."

Police said he declared he did not wish to see an attorney.

House was arrested when detectives recognized him from a circularized description and shadowed him. He apparently noticed he was being followed, detectives said, because he skipped into a house and was about to escape through a rear window when caught.

Formal complaint is on file here charging House with embezzling $2,000 from Myers and Rainbolt of Omaha and E. R. Booth of Broken Bow. He is accused of converting to his own use money obtained on a real estate loan from an Omaha firm. Before leaving Broken Bow, however, House told County Clerk Harry Knapp, a brother-in-law, that he was short in his accounts about $20,000.

Mrs. House, wife of the arrested man, would not make a statement to the press concerning the case, except to say that she would stay in Broken Bow for the present at least.

HEART TROUBLE FATAL.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., March 25—(AP)—August Bork, 86, a bachelor, died here Wednesday from heart disease. He was born in Germany.

SHARP IS HELD FOR TRIAL IN WIFE'S DEATH

Mrs. Harriette A. Sharp, the woman found murdered in Sharp's car March 17, was introduced by the state. Other witnesses testified as to the examination of footprints near the death car, the condition of Mrs. Sharp's body, and the circumstances surrounding the finding of Sharp, blindfolded and tied, on North Roberts street in Bethany.

Pleads "Not Guilty."

Sharp did not take the witness stand. He sat calmly behind his attorney throughout the hearing. When he stood before Judge Hawes while the complaint was read to him he listened attentively. Stout, his attorney, said, "I wish to enter a plea of 'not guilty' for the defendant."

"Not guilty," repeated Sharp.

Clothes which Sharp wore when he talked to officers during the night of March 16 were introduced as exhibits in evidence. Motorcycle Officer Jones, of University Place, testified that when Sharp was asked to explain spots believed to be blood on his clothes, he said, "Is not from that woman!" This was before the body was found, Jones said.

The hearing started immediately after the complaint was read to the defendant. Arthur Ostblom, 24, son of Mrs. Sharp, was the first witness called by the state.

"My mother and Frank were in the bathroom when I last saw them March 16," he testified. "I could hear them talking loudly before I went in, but I could not make out the words. I got a jacket out of the bathroom and left the house.

"John Ostblom, my father, spent three days at our home at Christmas, and there were no hard feelings between him and Frank Sharp.

"Frank got along best with Marie, 13 years old, and me. I never had any serious arguments with him. The only one I ever had was about a business deal, and not in connection with family troubles.

Tells of Quarrels.

"I have often heard Frank and my mother quarreling, although I never heard any threats or serious trouble. Many times my mother got out of bed at 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning and complain about Frank's wrangling.

"As a father, I never paid any attention to Frank, but we were on friendly terms with each other."

Sharp's shoes, taken from him the day Mrs. Sharp's body was found, matched perfectly the tracks at the bank of the creek a quarter of a mile south of the death car, according to Clark Jeary, Lincoln attorney, who testified for the state.

Jeary said he and Max Towle, deputy county attorney, took Sharp's shoes to the creek. They measured imprints made by them, he said, and compared the shoes with the original prints found at the creek. In every respect the measurements were identical, according to his testimony.

Mrs. Velma Smaha, a daughter of the murdered woman, told the court when she last saw her mother. She said the couple left the house about 7:30 p. m.

Testifies Cause of Death.

Mrs. Sharp's death was caused by a fractured skull and bruises which resulted from blows dealt by a blunt instrument, Dr. R. H. Sawyer, county physician, testified. County Attorney Matson showed the doctor the two blood-stained hammers which officers have linked with the murder.

"Could Mrs. Sharp's death have resulted from blows dealt by these? he asked.

"It could," Dr. Sawyer replied.

H. V. Styer, an undertaker, described the condition of Mrs. Sharp's body when he received it the afternoon of March 17. He said the skull was broken in several places, particularly on the top and on the left side. Blood covered her dress and her shoes, he testified, and a knuckle of the left index finger was broken.

In cross-examining State Sheriff Condit, Attorney Stout said, "What have you done outside Lancaster county to locate the three men whom Sharp says held him up?"

"Nothing," replied the sheriff.

The authorities did not communicate with Omaha in an effort to trace the men whom Sharp says attacked him, Condit said. The shirt and shoes which were found near Fremont had not been investigated either, according to his testimony.

Found Sharp Blindfolded.

Mrs. Martha Carey, who lives at 1244 North Roberts Street in Bethany, and at whose home Sharp was found the night of March 16, blindfolded and tied, testified for the state. She told what Sharp had said about being held up by three men, and testified that he was highly nervous and excited when found outside her home.

At that time her brother untied the bandage from Sharp's eyes, she said, with much difficulty. She identified a piece of wire which was wrapped around his hands securely, according to Mrs. Carey. Sharp came to her home between 10 and 11 p. m.

"Sharp was wearing a coat, a vest, and undershirt, and a pair of trousers," the witness said. "The blindfold on his eyes proved to be a part of a shirt. Sharp appeared severely chilled and was very excited."

The defense called only one witness, State Sheriff Condit. He produced the clothes which he said were worn by Sharp March 17, and identified underwear, socks and shoes.

Cap Evidence Withheld.

Attorney Stout made a dozen attempts to introduce in evidence the supposed finding of a cap, purported to be Sharp's, and a flashlight, which were said to have been discovered Tuesday and Wednesday. Each time he asked Condit questions concerning such a find County Attorney Matson objected, and was upheld.

Condit testified, however, that he had no more clothes which he knew to be the property of Sharp.

Stout's statement to Judge Hawes contained a request to bind over the defendant on a second degree murder charge, if any.

"There is no evidence introduced by the state to show premeditation or malice," he said. "A second degree charge would allow bail, while a first degree complaint will not. It is the purpose of this hearing to decide if the evidence is sufficient to justify binding over the defendant. There has been no proof that this death was premeditated."

In reply County Attorney Matson declared that the very nature of the wounds inflicted upon Mrs. Sharp indicated malice and premeditation.

"This man is either guilty of murder in the first degree," he exclaimed, "or entirely innocent."

Judge Hawes upheld the county attorney.

Sharp was taken back to the state penitentiary for confinement. He was asked if he would rather go there or to the county jail, and chose the state institution.

Denies Ownership of Cap.

Questioned by the officers, Wednesday afternoon following the preliminary hearing, regarding the finding of the blood stained cap and the flashlight, Sharp denied ownership of either of the two articles. He said the flashlight he had owned was of different make.

He was questioned closely regarding the cap he wore the Tuesday night of the murder, but was unable to state definitely which of three caps owned by him had been worn that night. Neither was he able to remember the names of the firms where he had purchased the cap. The caps bore the names of the dealers but Sharp was unable to read them without his glasses.

Sharp seemed to be in very good humor and talked willingly, telling again the details of the holdup. He was returned to the penitentiary following the questioning.

Sharp now is without an attorney. Richard F. Stout, who defended him at the preliminary hearing, was employed only for that time, and it is thought relatives of Sharp will ask the district court to appoint a defender. However members of the family were expected to confer with Mr. Stout again today, and new arrangements may be made.

SUSPECT CAPTURED.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP)—Vice Consul J. Winsor Ives at Mazatlan, informed the state department Wednesday of the capture by Mexican authorities of Remingo Ruelas, described as one of the two Mexicans responsible for the death of Joe Hall, an American employed by the Mexican national railways.

"If I only had your lovely skin, Alice!"

"Mine is so bad, not even rouge and powder do any good. But anyone would think you had just got back from vacation. What's the secret?"

"Why, Madge, there's no secret. I would have told you long ago but I felt I couldn't speak of it until you asked me. My doctor told me that constipation was the cause of most skin troubles. Poisons from the waste matter are picked up by the blood and carried to all parts of the body, especially the skin. They were ruining my skin, too, until he prescribed Nujol for me. Nujol stopped the constipation and my complexion began to improve right away. Try it for a week or two and see."

Don't Refuse the Beauty Aid Nujol Will Give

No one needs to have a sallow, muddy complexion. The cause is simple; the remedy is in your own hands. Proper diet, exercise, surface cleanliness and—above all—internal cleanliness. Nujol prevents the formation of intestinal poisons that ruin your health and complexion.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. Nujol simply makes up for a deficiency—temporary or chronic—in the supply of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular elimination, without overtaxing the intestinal muscles.

Nujol can be taken for any length of time without ill effects. To insure internal cleanliness it should be taken regularly in accordance with the directions on each bottle. Unlike laxatives, it does not form a habit, and can be discontinued at any time.

Start taking Nujol today. Very soon you will notice an improvement in your looks. And you can look forward to the beauty and attractiveness that are the natural right of every woman.

PUSHING FARM RELIEF STUDY

House Agriculture Committee to Hold Day and Night Sessions.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Day and night sessions for farm relief hearings will be held hereafter by the house agriculture committee in an effort to get legislation into congress before adjournment.

The committee decided on this Wednesday after members had urged that some way be found to expedite the testimony. Representative Jones, democrat, Texas, made an attempt to have the hearings closed in order to consider a bill but the other members held that those wanting to be heard should be given an opportunity.

Meanwhile, the delegations representing national and middlewestern farm organizations, here urging a measure to assess an equaliztion fee upon certin crops to provide a fund for marketing the surplus, arranged to appear before the senate agriculture committee Monday. It is not expected that the delegation will have completed its case in the house at that time, but several witnesses can be detached to testify before the senate committee.

Action on night sessions of the house committee came after a sharp discussion between republican and democratic members.

Representative Kincheloe, democrat, Kentucky, drew fire from the majority side of the table when he said the republicans were "awaiting orders from the other end of the avenue," meaning the white house.

The Kentucky representative contended there was no chance of farm relief legislation this summer, but Representative Tincher, republican, Kansas, reported that "this congress will not be dissolved until March 4, 1927."

The committee Wednesday continued cross examination of William Hearst of the American Farm Bureau federation, on details of a bill for an equalization fee on farm products.

BOND TOO LARGE SO KILLS SELF

Omaha Man Arrested On Liquor Charges Ends Own Life.

OMAHA, March 25.—(AP)—Unable to raise a $3,000 bond after being arrested on a charge of unlawful sale and possession of liquor, Henry P. (Daddy) Hansen, 79, shot and killed himself at his soft drink parlor here last night.

Hansen had been arrested twice in the past month for liquor law violations and each time was able to raise the necessary heavy bond. With funds depleted when arrested yesterday he told friends he would kill himself.

"Find Yourself" Campaign Closes

Interviews were the predominating feature of the second and last meeting of the "Find Yourself" campaign at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening. Attendance was a little over fifty. J. M. Searson, chairman of vocational guidance at the Y. M. C. A., presided.

Twenty Lincoln business and professional men were available and each boy was granted a half-hour interview with one man in the line of work he expects to enter.

The campaign was in charge of Hervey F. Smith and Ivan B. Snyder, boys' secretary at the Y. M. C. A. Ned Cadwallader, president of the Lancaster federation, introduced Mr. Searson.

A feature of the evening was for each man and boy to introduce himself and tell of his work or school. After the regular program and preliminaries the boys went to special rooms for the interviews. Another interview will be arranged for at the offices of the men.

Falls City Will Put On Egg Show

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., March 25.—With the announcement today of an egg show, with liberal prizes for the winners, Falls City is making big preparations for the coming of the Burlington special poultry train here next Monday. The train arrives here at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening and remains until midnight.

The chamber of commerce is making a concerted effort to get everyone in this territory to be in Falls City for the affair. Merchants are offering special inducements to farmers to bring in their eggs on that date, and a crowd of 10,000 people to see the train is anticipated.

Don't dose a Child's Cold

CHILDREN hate to be dosed with medicine. Vicks VapoRub relieves colds, without dosing, in two ways at once. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:—

(1) It is vaporized by the body heat, and inhaled right to the inflamed air passages and lungs;

(2) At the same time it acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the pain, tightness and soreness.

Of course Vicks is just as good for the cold troubles of adults.

To Hold Election On Confiscation of Kaiser's Estates

BERLIN, March 25.—(AP)—Germany probably will hold a national plebiscite to decide whether the reich and its component states shall confiscate without compensation the properties of the former ruling house.

An official estimate published Wednesday showed that 12,500,000 voters have entered their names on lists delegating the submission to the reich of a bill providing for such confiscation. This is 8,500,000 more than the number of signatures necessary to compel the reichstag to act on such a measure.

The expenses of this preliminary referendum campaign were met entirely by private subscription. The public treasury must pay the costs of the plebiscite itself.

25 Percent Of University Girls Earning Expenses

Approximately 25 per cent of the women students at the University of Nebraska are earning all or part of their school expenses. This figure university authorities believe, is interesting in the light of the presumption of many that the modern college girl's schedule is made up of classes, dates and social appointments.

Women students who work their way through the university are in most cases more attentive to their work, in the opinion of Amanda Heppner, dean of women at the university.

Although she has not compiled figures for the 1925-1926 school year, Dean Heppner estimates that 25 per cent of the women at the university are holding various positions to pay their expenses.

The university has placed restrictions on the number of class hours which a girl is permitted to carry while working part time. The normal schedule is 16 hours. If the student works four hours a day she is allowed to take not more than 14 hours of class work.

There are approximately 2,600 women at the university this year, enrolled largely in the liberal arts school, teachers college and home economics department.

Dean Heppner said that records kept in the past have revealed that Nebraska women who are wholly or in part self-supporting have as high scholastic averaged as those who do not work, and in many cases the working girls is the superior student.

STUDENTS SEND 181,000 WORDS

School of Journalism Serves 271 Papers On Basketball Tourney.

Copy aggregating 181,000 words (enough to fill 225 average county weekly columns and probably more than has ever before been sent from Lincoln on any one event) was sent to 271 Nebraska newspapers by 83 students of the school of journalism of the University of Nebraska, organized into a correspondence bureau to cover the sixteenth annual Nebraska high-school basketball tournament, March 11-13. To 262 weeklies went 17,000 words in local-end stories three times the amount sent on the 1924 tournament; five times the smaller 1925 tournament.

Appreciative and congratulatory letters from editors have been coming to the school and to the individual students who wrote these local interest stories.

"The students responded handsomely to the call to action," said Prof. M. M. Fogg, director of the school. "They turned out day and night to dispatch this big job—to serve the newspapers of the state and to give themselves a capital piece of experience in accurate reporting. They are very appreciative of the display of their work under their names and of the encouraging letters from the editors." The school is giving the correspondents, with the compliments of the editors, copies of the papers containing their stories, and a bound file will be preserved in the school library.

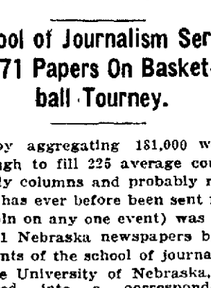

The assignment desk was in charge of Gayle C. Walker of the journalism faculty, and he and Professor Fogg took shifts in running the copy desk. In this they were assisted by ten upperclass journalism students: Millicent Ginn, '26, Nebraska City; William Cejnar, '27, Omaha; Julius Frandsen, '27, Lincoln; Elice Holvtchiner, '27, Omaha; Kenneth Cook, '27, Randolph; Edward Morrow, '27, Alliance; Arthur H. Sweet, '27, Nebraska City; Fred Zimmer, '27, Sidney.

High-point students on the amount of copy sent were: First, W. F. Jones, '27, McCook, 10,200 words; second, Horace W. Gomon, '27, Broken Bow, 8,850; third, Oscar Norling, '27, Litchfield, 7,900; fourth, Veronica T. Carter, '27, Omaha, 7,650; fifth, Norma Carpenter, '26, Lincoln, 6,725; sixth, Leroy W. Gore, '28, Lincoln, 6,600; seventh, Herbert D. Kelly, '26, Nebraska City, 6,200; eighth, George M. Hooper, '28, Ames, 6,050; ninth, Dorothy Nott, '28, Elgin, and Lloyal K. Morgan, '28, York, 5,000.

Work Is Begun On An Aviation Field

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., March 25.—The contract for the ground for the Falls City landing field, the first aviation field in southeastern Nebraska, was signed yesterday and work started today on the leveling of the 40-acre tract a mile east of Falls City, and the placing of permanent markers in the field.

MANY PASSENGERS SAVED.

RIO JANEIRO, March 25.—(AP)—Eight passengers, the captain and the first and second engineers of the Brazilian river steamer Paes De Carvalho perished when the steamer sank in the Solimo river, one of the upper forks of the Amazon, near Manaos, according to dispatches received here Wednesday. The disaster was caused by an explosion. Seventy-eight passengers and several members of the crew were rescued.

Measure Sunshine To Aid Research In Plant Diseases

Measuring sunshine may sound like a fairy tale but it is really being done by W. D. Bancroft, in charge of the United States weather bureau station at the University of Nebraska agricultural college. The average solar intensity for each month is determined here by amassing data for many years and computing the averages.

The averages procured by Mr. Bancroft are valuable in research work carried on by the botanical department of the university. They are also used by the department of plant pathology in reproducing various environmentail conditions used in the study of plant diseases. The department in recent studies of potato generation diseases reproduced a whole series of weather conditions ranging from those of Maine to Florida. The experiments were the basis of a recent conference of plant authorities from all sections of the United States.

The average solar intensity for the year 1925 in Nebraska was 373,083 gram calories per square centimeter, Mr. Bancroft found. His records also revealed that Nebraska received 68 per cent sunshine for the year or about 3 per cent above the normal mark for this state, which is 63 per cent. This meant that the sun was shining 69 per cent of the possible hours for the entire year.

The instrument used is known as a callendar recorder and is one of three in the United States. The others are located at Washington, D. C. and Madison, Wis. The instrument records the solar radiation in gram calories.

MONTANA SHAKEN.

HELENA, Mont., March 25.—(AP)—Two slight, but distinct earthquake shocks lasting several seconds each were felt here late Wednesday. Although they were quite pronounced at Kenwood, a suburb, no damage was reported. Helena has experienced thirty-two quakes since last June, when the first of a series of temblors that shook parts of Montana severely was felt.

Don't Show Your Age! Banish The Wrinkles

Wrinkles are the surest indication of age, and nowadays women who show their age are considered passe. It is easy to erase these unwelcome signs with a simple mixture of lemon juice and Powdered Tarkroot—a spoonful of each. Just apply to your face with the fingers and as it dries, feel the delightful tingling sensation which comes while the mixture is "working"—and in your mirror watch the wrinkles and creases vanish before your very eyes!

For flabbiness of cheek or chin, for coarse pores, blackheads, or an oily skin, there's nothing to equal this simple method. And the cost is less than 3 cents a treatment when an original package of Tarkroot is purchased. At all drug stores and toilet counters.

"I tried different remedies but they all failed. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after three applications I got relief. I continued the treatment and after using three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and six cakes of Cuticura Soap I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Fern Scott, Greentown, Ind., Aug. 11, 1925.

SUCCESS MUST BE CONQUERED

Vosburgh Says Work and Courage Bring About Its Attainment.

Denver Man Speaker At Noon Luncheon Of the Lions Club.

Success in life is within the rech of every one in his or her own sphere, Dr. George B Vosburgh, noted traveler and lecturer at the University of Denver, told members of the Lions club at their noon luncheon Thursday at the chamber of commerce. Success has never been handed to any man on a golden platter, however, he said, adding "it can b ehad only by conqering it, and every one may conquer if he will."

Work is indispensable to success, along with courage, Dr. Vosburgh said. Without these coupled with a lofuness of character, a knowledge of what one can do best and a feeling that life holds something worth striving for and a determined effort to reach that goal, none can attain sccess, he declared.

Dr. Vosburgh said ,in part:

"Success means the attainment of a purpose—supposedly a lofty purpose Some qahties indispensable to success are.

"First every one should realize that he or she can be a success within his or her own sphere We are not all made alike, no one can be a success in every line, but every one can be a success in some line That person will always be a success in life who does the thing which nature intended he should do, and who does it with his or her might, it makes no matter whether it is a brick layer, a carpenter, a housewife or a banker. It is of the first importance that every one find out what he can best do in life; every one who has been a big success has followed the line for which he was endowed by nature.

"To win every one should feel that life holds something that is worth striving after. All kinds of work in this world are absolutely indispensable, and in order to go over the top a man must feel that the thing that he is doing is a worthwhile and an indispensable thing

Work Basis of Greatness.

"Again, work. The Bible says 'work out your own salvation with fear and trembling' 'The Father worketh hitherto and I work' This is a working world God doesn't make oak trees, but he makes acorns, and the acorn, by worring, by battling with the summer and winter voices of the years, at last becomes a monarch of the forest. Every one has to work out his destiny Human beings begin at the seminal point Everything in this world has to work; the animals, the fish, the men; the hand, the ear, the eye, the brain; where one person has been injured by overwork, a thousand have been injured by working too little. If you read the lives of the great men of history you will discover that they were all characterized by being indefatigable workers They all worked up to the level of their best powers, and did it with their might

"The possible decadence of power is a point that is often overlooked If we fail to do the best of which we are capable, we soon reach the point when we are incapable of doing our best. A man who can lay 1,500 bricks a day and for a term of years is content with laying 600 or 700 bricks a day, will reach the time when the latter number will be the limit of his capacity It is so in work of every kind.

'Immoral men have never made a success of life Loftiness of character is indispensable to loftiness of purpose

Courage Without this, no man can arrive. Life is not a path of roses for any human being. All who have won in the game of life have had to encounter difficulties—whether it was a Columbus a Lincoln, or an Alexander Graham Bell It takes courage and strength to swim against the tide Any dead fish can float downstream

'Finally, we must be filled with the passion to serve our fellow men Selfishness is the bane and curse of life The passion to serve lifts us to a higher level, and nerves us with increasing power; no matter whether it be the salesman, the banker ,the teacher, or the preacher. Christ said, 'I am among you as one that serveth' He sounded the keynote and set the example for the whole human rac Success has never been handd to any man on a golden platter It can be had only by conquering it, and every one may conquer if he will."

Tenants Driven From Apartment In Morning Fire

OMAHA, March 25.—(AP)—Several firemen were partially overcome by smoke and many tenants were forced to flee in scant attire when fire broke out in the Mason terrace apartment at 7 a. m., today.

The damage was estimated at $12,000, caused largely by smoke and water. The fire is believed to have originated in one of the apartments.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Dr. Albion W Small, nearly 72 years old, head of the department of sociology of the University of Chicago since 1892 and former president of Colby college, was found dead in his bed in the hotel De Prado Wednesday. He had been suffering from angina pectoris for some time.

Carrier Pigeon Uses Automobile When Exhausted

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP)—The navy's pet pigeon story about a carrier bird that went A. W. O. L., from a canal zone station for a year and then returned to duty was capped Wednesday in an official report from San Diego of an aerial messenger which stole a forty mile automobile ride to deliver its message.

The San Diego pigeon arrived at the naval station there perched on an automobile driven by Mrs. Evelyn Johnson of San Diego, who said it had boarded the machine at Oceanside, forty miles away. It promptly took up its residence in the quarters of the officer of the day drew rations, rested a bit and then took to the air to make its home port at a nearby naval aviation station under its own power. The bird had been released presumably from a plane with a message addressed to the aviation station.

MELLON PRAISES PAYMENT PLANS

Tells Philadelphia Club Debt Settlements Most Favorable Possible.

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—(By the Associated Press)—America's war debt settlements with European nations were the most favorable which could be obtained short of force Secretary Mellon declared here last night in an address before the Union league club

Touching on the moral obligations to assist other peoples to clear away the wreckage of war, Mr Mellon said "we do and we will carry out this duty"

The administration believes in help and not charity, he continued, "and our financial policies toward Europe are backed, not by sentiment, but by sense"

"If Europe is to be re-established on a sound basis," he declared, "it must balance its budget, its war debts must be funded, and the American investor must intelligently and profitably invest his surplus capital stock abroad" All of this is taking place, he added and financial reconstruction of Europe is in sight

"There is here a surplus," he explained, "and to dispose of this surplus we must reach markets abroad which means having purchasers abroad with money or credit to buy. If the exportable surplus cannot be disposed or abroad, then prices in this country will drop. We all need our best customer"

Referring to criticism that the debt settlements were too lenient, the secretary said he preferred to have solvent customers with prospects of a profitable business in the future, rather than force his customers into bankruptcy.

STRONG WORDS IN HOUSE OVER DRY QUESTION

O'Connor, New York Demo, Calls Dr. Wilson, Methodist, "Liar."

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Prohibition debate reached the point yesterday in the house where the old fashioned word "liar" came into play, with members edging forward in their seats like a crowd watching the end of a tence race.

Representative LaGuardia, progressive-socialist, New York, started the battle of words by charging that Franklin L. Dodge, formerly a justice department investigator, had attempted to dispose of $200,000 worth of liquor permits obtained from the wife of George Remus, convicted Cincinnati bootlegger, and it did not end until Representative O'Connor, democrat, New York, had called Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist board of morals, a liar.

Dr. Wilson was quoted by Mr O'Connor as having asserted congressmen in pre-Volstead days gave the sergeant-at-arms a hard task to perform, and as having said this information came from the sergeant-at-arms The sergeant-at arms, Rogers, extricated himself from the situation by saying he did not know Dr Wilson and had come to work in the house since prohibition became effective

"When a United States official," Mr. O'Connor said, "and one who was a prominent investigator in the department of justice leaves the government service to go into the bootlegging business and to traffic the very same goods for which others were convicted and sent to jail it is about time that congress takes notice"

Resents "Rum Element" Charge.

Representative O'Connor resented especially a press clipping quoting Dr Wilson as saying that before prohibition the "rum element" controlled congress.

"It's a lie," he stated, "it's a deliberate, dastardly canard"

Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, objected to O'Connor referring to a minister of the gospel in such language and demanded that the remarks be eliminated from the congressional record. He later withdrew his objections upon request of Rpresentative Madden, republican, Illinois

Representative Cellar, democrat New York, both in a statement and on the floor, assailed Wayne B Wheeler of the Anti-saloon league, for his attitude toward District Attorney Buckner of New York, who has urged referendum on the dry law in that state.

He accused Mr Wheeler of being "drunk with power over a lot of maudlin women and mawkish prohibitionists."

Americans Lost 33,000,000 Francs In Riviera Play

NICE, France, March 25.—(AP)—It is estimated that American visitors lost 33,240,000 francs in the Riviera casinos last year. The "kitties" of the various casinos amounted to 83,100,000 francs, 40 per cent of which is figured to have come from American pocketbooks.

The municipal casino of Cannes led all the others in paying local and state taxes on a total bank's percentage of 32,304,000 francs. The casino of Nice was second with 26,280,000 francs, while the other casino at Nice, the Promenade Jetty casino, was third with 10,481,000 francs.

Monte Carlo casino, which is not a French casino, had a yearly "kitty" of 112,550,000 francs.

WASHINGTON—(AP)— President Coolidge will be asked by a delegation of house members today to use his influence for action at this session of congress on the omnibus reclamation bill, adjusting water right charges on eighteen western reclamation projects.

Hopes Revived For Tacna-Arica Settlement Soon

ARICA, Chile, March 25.—(AP)—Hopes for a settlement of the present Tacna-Arica plebiscite crisis were revived Wednesday.

A meeting of the plebiscitary commission, set for yesterday morning, was postponed until today to permit determination by the Americans of a new policy by which it is hoped to avert a crash and allow continuation of the preparations for the plebiscite.

Maj. Gen. William Lassiter, neutral chairman of the commission, conferred Tuesday with the heads of both the Chilean and Peruvian delegations, with the object, it is believed, of ascertaining the attitudes of their governments toward the new American proposal, the nature of which is being kept secret.

The evident intention to proceed with the plebiscite is taken as proof that the efforts made between the various chancelleries for an agreement on the basis of a direct settlement were fruitful, leaving the plebiscite again as the only hope of a friendly solution of the question as to which nation is to have sovereignty over Tacna and Arica.

You Can't Dance On Corns!

There Isn't an Excuse in the World for Tolerating Corns or Callouses Since "END-O-CORN."

It is your own fault if you allow corns or callous spots to remain on your feet. No matter whether you have tried advertised corn cures or not, Perhaps you have a VASCULAR corn that nothing but "END-O-CORN" will remove. Liquid corn cures are not only unsatisfactory and worthless in many cases, but they are also often dangerous.

"END-O-CORN" is absolutely harmless and will not burn or redden the surrounding flesh. It is far more pleasant than any other corn remedy. Every package contains a money guarantee that you can CASH AT ANY BANK, ANYWHERE, if all your corns and callouses are not removed by "END-O-CORN."

The Harley Drug Co., urges everyone who has corn or callous troubles to use "End-O-Corn" because every jar means a happy and satisfied customer.

Remember: All corns — all kinds—gone—or money back.—Advertisement.

OMAHA MAN IS RELIEVED OF 20 YEARS SUFFERING

Spent Hundreds of Dollars On Medicines And Special Treatment, But It Took Karnak To Make A Well Man Of Him, Says Krisky.

"I want you to know that I suffered twenty years, spent hundreds of dollars year in and year out on special treatment, underwent an operation, and took most every medicine you could call the name of hoping to find relief, but it took this Karnak to reach my troubles and make a well man of me," declares Louis Krisky of 2615 E. St., South Omaha, Neb.

"Yes sir, before I got Karnak, I felt just like I was at my row's end, continues Mr. Krisky. "My stomach had gotten into such terrible condition that milk alone would upset me, and everything I ate just seemed like so much poison to my system.

"Gas would bloat me terribly. I'd be in agony for hours, and I would have such weak, faintly spells after a meal I felt like I would drop in my tracks. Awful cramping pains would catch me in my stomach, too, and pains would shoot through my back and in the region of my kidneys. My liver was sluggish, I had headaches, and had to always be taking strong laxatives for constipation. My nerves were so on edge I couldn't get a good night's sleep. I tell you I just felt so weak and discouraged I had almost given up hope of ever seeing another well day.

"Well, sir, so many people here in Omaha got to praising Karnak so highly that my sister wouldn't let me stop till I got a bottle myself. And I want you to know it's nothing short of amazing how five bottles of this medicine has restored my health.

"My stomach just seems to have been made new. I don't have an ache or pain and I can sleep and work just like a good healthy man ought to now. I tell you, Karnak just fixed me up as fine as a fiddle, and I will gladly verify this statement for anyone."

Karnak is sold in Lincoln exclusively by the Harley Drug Co., in Havelock by the Baker Drug Store, and by the leading druggist in every town.—Advertisement.

Chemist Disproves Man's Hunch That 'Butter' Was Oleo

D. E Martin of Hershey had a hunch that some of the butter being sold in his town was mixed with oleomargerine. To verify his suspicion he sent a pound of it into the state food and drug laboratory Chemist R G. Batty obligingly made the test. Now the joke is on Martin The contents of the package were found to be pure butter and in good condition

"I don't think anybody would be likely to attempt the sale of oleomargerine as butter, in view of the stiff penalties provided by federal law," said Mr. Batty. "Oleomargerine can be sold under its own name by paying 1 cent a pound tax to the government, if un-colored, or 10 cents a pound if colored to look like butter"

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(By the Associated Press.) — John Tromble of Kansas, representing the National Board of Farm Organizations, testified before the house agriculture committee today in support of the corn belt bill to finance marketing of surplus crops by levying an equalization fee on them

He believed the proposed legislation would enable the producers to get better prices and the consumer to pay less for his food. PRODUCE PHONEY CANS IN EVIDENCE

Say Balderson and Leupold Sold Four Gallons Water With Hooch.

Trial was begun in Federal court Thursday morning of Erick Balderson, who with Ira Leupold is charged in a Federal grand jury indictment with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws.

Only Balderson is facing trial, Leupold is now serving time in the Kansas penitentiary on another charge.

A dozen five-gallon tin containers were presented by the government in evidence this morning. These cans when confiscated were found to be filled with five gallons of water A small can had been soldered inside the large can, and this was filled with the alleged liquor The cans were found in a garage, which the officers claim was being used by Balderson and Leupold The two men were arrested near Fourtnth and P street January 6, and are alleged to have been in possession of a small amount of liquor at that time.

The first government witness was Henry Knippel, tinner, who testified that he had made the can according to the orders given him by Leupold. Leupold, he said, helped fill them with water and paid him for his work. Balderson, he said, had come to his shop on one or two occasions with Leupold.

REPORTS SHOW CHURCH GROWTH

All Departments of Westminister Presbyterian Make Good Gains.

Officers For Coming Year Are Elected at Annual Meeting.

Encouraging reports from all departments and organizations marked the annual congregational meeting of Westminister Presbyterian church Wednesday evening. The present active membership is 672, showing a net increase of 110 for the year just closed.

The church school under Earl R. Middlekauff, superintendent, reported a marked growth. The total enrollment is 439 as compared with 331 a year ago and the total offerings $714 as compared with $630.

A budget of $25,000 was approved for the coming year which is almost double the present budget, but interest on the loan for the new church and certain furnishings for the new building are responsible for the increase.

William Grant, chairman of the building committee reported on the progress of the new church and was supported by the congregation in his recommendation for authorization to spend upwards to $16,000 additional for furnishings. It is planned to dedicate the building early next fall.

John M. Rosborough, chairman of the music committee, presented plans and recommendations for a $26,000 pipe organ, the finest to be had, he said. The recommendations were adopted.

C. L. Morrison, church treasurer, reported receipts of $11,950 to date and disbursements of $11,893 for the running expenses of the church. A deficit of $957 is doubly covered by pledges.

The Westminster Women's society had earned $2,981 during he year and paid out $2,632, which with a balance of $156 at the beginning of the year leaves a balance of $505.

Miss Ruth J. Easterday, director of Christian education, gave a very encouraging report of the activities under her supervision, including the vacation church school last summer with an enrollment of 116 and the standard training school for teachers.

The by-laws of the church were revised by a committee under Robert R. Gray, chdirman, and were approved by the congregation.

Mrs. E. A. Pegler was elected deaconness for a three-year term, succeeding Mrs. L. R. Freadrick.

Session Is Increased.

The session was increased from nine to twelve and the following men were elected: Hiram Kellogg, Dr. Frank B. Johnson, O. A. Andrews, Robert D. Latsch, E. A. Holbrook and W. K. Fowler. The three retiring elders are Dr. R. A. Lyman, W. E. Bell and Oswald R. Black.

The board of deacons was also increased from nine to twelve and the following men elected: F. R. Hussong, Williams S. Holmes and Michael T. McShane, the retired deacons re-elected, John Glenn Mason, J. Paul Wikoff and William F. Wylde.

Lee Ager and Earl R. Middlekauff were elected trustees to complete the unexpired terms they were appointed to fill, M. T. Caster was re-elected for a full term and E. A. Pegler, T. B. Strain, O. A. Barber and William Gray were elected for full terms. Dr. F. W. Webster and Roy D. Kile retire from the board.

American Flappers 'Simian,' According To Tibetan's View

LONDON, March 25.—(AP)—Flappers of France, Great Britain and America would win no prizes in Tibetan beauty contests. So says Mrs. Louis M. King in her book "We Tibetans." Mrs. King's maiden names was Rin-Chen Lha-Mo.

"Westerners are not good looking, according to our standards," says the Tibetan woman. "Your noses are too big and often stick out like kettle spouts; your ears too large, like the pig's ears; your blue eyes, like children's marbles; your eye sockets are too deep and eyebrows too prominent, too Simian."

Then, she adds, the Tibetan women do not smoke. Neither do they use powder or rouge. But in some districts of Tibet the women cover their faces with black pigment to protect the skin from the wind and sun.

Nuns are the only old maids in Tibet. All other women marry. In fact some of them have several husbands and they fear no competition from the women of th west with all their aids to beauty.

GAME PRESERVE NEAR BOSTWICK

Keifers Offer 2,209 Acre "Elora Ranch" to the State.

Third Refuge For Game Birds to Be Set Aside In Nebraska.

Another private tract of land has been offered to the state for use as a refuge for game birds. The 2,209 acres "Elora ranch" of J. Warren Keifer and his son Oswin, of Bostwick, is the latest tract that will be so designated.

The ranch will be officially designated as a game bird refuge by the state agriculture department, in accordance with correspondence between the Keifers and State Game Warden Frank B. O'Connell, for one year on payment of a nominal rental of $1 by the state. The state will place warning signs about the tract prohibiting hunting on it, and the residents of the locality will arrange the policing under the state's authority.

This will be the third such tract in the state. The first was the Pentenelle park near Belleville, on the Missouri, and the second is the recently created preserve of 3,500 acres northwest of Nebraska City.

The Elora ranch is south of Bostwick, and provides considerable natural cover, Oswin Keifer informs Warden O'Connell, the Republican river flows through the tract, increasing its desirability as a preserve. While the lease expires in a year, according to state law, it is the wish of the owners that it shall continue as a preserve indefinitely, and the lease will probably be renewed from year to year. A crate of pheasants has already been sent to the Keifers and released upon the land.

While hunting would not be permitted within the limits of the preserves, the department of agriculture has written the Keifers, trapping to destroy rabbits and other pests may be carried out.

Father and son have both served in the legislature, and Oswin Keifer is at present candidate for congress from his district. They reside on a farm near Bostwick, in Nuckolls county, and operate a grain and livestock business.

UNCOVER PERFECT CRIME "SYSTEM"

Police Decide Best to Keep Secret Nationwide Scheme to Get Billion.

NEW YORK, March 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Secrecy was being maintained by the police today regarding a perfect crime system which had a billion dollar loot throughout the United States as its object.

The system was devised by the Whittemore gang of night club frequenters, now in custody.

So perfect was the system, as outlined from two sources among the arrested men, that Acting District Attorney Pecora has declined to reveal it.

"More harm than you could imagine would be done the youth of the country if the plan were made public," said Mr. Pecora. "We have learned how highly systematized was the crime organization which gang members formed. The Whittemore band was the most highly organized I ever heard of. They had planned to operate on a national scale with a billion dollars in prospect as loot."

The system was so failure proof that Mr. Pecora attributed the band's capture largely to luck.

The band of six men and a woman, known as the "Tiger Girl," is ostensibly headed by Richard Reese Whittemore of Baltimore, wanted in that city for murder and identified as one of the gang which killed two Buffalo men in a $83,000 holdup recently. The slaying of at least one member who balked at orders also is attributed to the gang.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

CHICAGO—(AP)—Railroads operating in the mid-western area encompassed by the Mississippi and Ohio rivers and described by the interstate commerce act as the fourth section presented exhibits here Wednesday to the interstate commerce commission favoring continuance of present long and short haul rates. The rates for fifteen years are to be made permanent by the commission with such adjustments as evidence introduced at the hearing may indicate to be equitable.

FRESNO, Cal.—(AP)—A new one appeared on the emergency hospital records Wednesday. Here it is: "George Krambian of Fresno, was driving along the highway between Berenda and Chowchilla late Monday night when his car threw a tire. The tire bounded onto the railroad track directly into the path of an oncoming Southern Pacific train, striking the engine. The tire was thrown directly into Krambian's machine, striking him full in the chest. Krambian was treated for contusions of the right chest."

'Bootleg Queen' Decries Lack Of Business Ethics

Even the bootlegging profession has a code of business ethics and the "more honorable members' look with contempt upon the violators.

"Anyone who would cheat a customer like that ought to be prosecuted," declared Louise Vinciquerra, self styled "queen of the Omaha bootleggers" when she was shown the bogus five-gallon alcohol containers which were brought into Federal court as exhibits in the government's conspiracy case against Erick Balderson

Inside the large can is soldered a small quart container. When examined the large cans were found to be filled with water. The quart cans were filled with liquor. A purchaser of the supposed five gallons of liquor, might unscrew the cap and pour out a bit of the liquor, and pay for the supposed five gallons. Later he would probably discover that he had paid out good money for several gallons of pure water and a quart of real hooch. But it would then be too late.

Butler Still On Dodger Sick List

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 25.—(I. N. S.)—With the Brooklyn Dodgers making ready to start north, a report was in circulation today that they might trade a pitched to the St. Louis Cardinals for "Specs" Toporcer, utility infielder of the Cards.

The latest news from Baltimore was that Johnny Butler, high-priced Brooklyn recruit, would not be in condition to play until after three weeks.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me Eugene M. Pullan, Carpenter, 496 M Mercellus Amvenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation. —Advertisement.

Protest Closing Surveyors' Office

Omaha interests are much concerned over the closing of the federal surveyor's office there, which was the headquarters for federal public land surveys in Nebraska and South Dakota. At the request of the Omaha chamber of commerce Governor McMullen wired Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work suggesting that the work ought not to be discontinued and received this reply:

"No curtailment of surveying in the Nebraska and South Dakota district is contemplated. Field surveyors familiar with the district will continue."

Papers Filed By New Radio Club

The incorporators are G. E. Carpenter, W. E. Kincaid, T. E. Holmberg, Dale P. Stough, Hagey Rea and J. Lawson Robb. Mr. Stough has been elected president of the society, and the first official meeting was held last Monday. The members also propose to co-operate in eliminating unnecessary radio interference.

No Water For New Addition This Year

It is unlikely that extension of the water mains from the A street plant to the new addition east of the city, which was taken in Monday, will be started this season, according to Commissioner Schroeder, Thursday. There are too many other projects that must be completed before this one can be started, he said

The head of the water department was asked if he had any idea about the cost of building a lead main to the point where the smaller lines would start into the new district. He said: "I haven't the slightest idea and right now I am not even thinking about the cost. The line cannot be laid this year, in my opinion. There will be time enough to consider costs when we get ready to go to work."

If you received every week a dozen or more letters like the ones below from people who have suffered torments from piles, says Peterson, wouldn't you feel happier than the man whose life is devoted to money grabbing.

"Two months ago I determined to give Peterson's Ointment a trial. The improvement was so decided after using one box, that I continued, and on the completion of the fifth box am now entirely cured.

MOVE TO RETURN N. J. HOUSE HERE

Governor McMullen Asks Federal Requisition For Man Held in Canada.

Wanted For Trial at Broken Bow On Six Counts of Embezzlement.

Action by the department of state at Washington to have Nathaniel J. House arrested and held by the police at Vancouver, B. C., returned to Broken Bow for trial on six different charges of grand larceny, embezzlement and conversion of funds aggregating over $18,000, has been officially requested by Governor McMullen in a telegram sent Thursday morning to Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg.

Where a person wanted as a fugitive from justice is apprehended in another country, the United States government must formally ask for his surrender, as an ordinary requisition from the state of Nebraska would not be recognized without the endorsement of federal authorities.

The specific charges against House ,as recited in copies of the complaints which were sent to Governor McMullen, are as follows:

FIND OLDEST SKATES.

PRAGUE, March 25.—(AP)—The oldest ice skates in the world, so archaeologists assert, have been discovered in a museum here They date back to the fifth century B. C. The skates are fashioned from the bones of cattle, the bone being flattened off on one side along its length and perforated at each end to admit leather ankle thongs. The natural curve at each of the bone toward the points served to keep the foot in place and for the upward bend of the running edge.

CHAPTER 94.

On the afternoon of the day on which James went to New York, Robert Gaylord called at John's office.

"I came up from New York today," he remarked. "Somers was on the train with me."

"Ah!" The lawyer answered the unspoken question. "He mentioned James."

"You know Somers, then?" John asked.

"Only slightly. That is why I was surprised when he made an opportunity to speak to me. Several months ago there were some investigations of bootlegging in Fairfield. You remember that Somers' name was brought into that, although he managed to clear himself?"

"Yes, I remember."

"Well, soon afterward I ran across him in the office of a friend, George Lathrop. I did not even know who Somers was then. He went out soon and my friend mentioned that he was one of the chaps who had been under suspicion. He also said that Somers had explained his position and that he had mentioned James casually in talking of some business in which they both—he and James—were interested. Lathrop had told him he was expecting me, that I was your lawyer and had been your father's lawyer also. I wondered afterward if that was why Somers made his exit soon after my appearance. But at the time I did not know the things he was saying about James."

"What things?"

"The things I mentioned to you the other day," Gaylord answered. He was sure that John suspected to what he referred, but was hoping against hope that he might be mistaken. "He asserted that James had promised to back him up in some venture, but had withdrawn at the critical point. You recollect?"

John nodded.

"Well, anyway, it was after I had seen the fellow that I heard these rumors. You may recall that I reminded you recently that he could be silenced if he says anything scandalous."

"But," John spoke slowly, "we do not know that he has said anything scandalous. I am sure Jim has not seen him recently. Moreover, Jim told me that he, Somers, had nothing on him."

"I am glad he has not," Gaylord declared. "He made me a bit uncomfortable when I saw him today."

John was vaguely alarmed.

"Come to think of it, I know that Jim never received a cent from Somers. In fact, Somers tried to get money from Jim."

"Yes," the lawyer admitted. "And for a bootlegging scheme. To speak plainly—there will be no trouble unless James had some idea of going into this illegal business with Somers. But, if he had, and, as Somers says, promised to do so, then refused, Somers might start a story that would be pretty ugly if he could substantiate it. I mean it would be rather unpleasant for James if this scoundrel could prove that the two were planning to go into business together. Richard Fitzgerald would look sharply into any rumor connected with his future son-in-law's name."

There was a long silence. Gaylord saw the color ebb slowly from his companion's face. Compassion made the lawyer speak more guardedly.

"I may have followed a ridiculous impulse in telling you all this. If, as you think, James made no promises, and is not involved in any way with this man, he can prove it, and all will be well. Perhaps I have been barking up the wrong tree," he added with an attempt at a laugh. "You know James better than I do. So please excuse what must seem like officiousness on my part."

VICTORY SEEN BY OLDFIELD

Declares Country "Sick" Of Republican "Do Nothing" Attitude.

Holds Demos Have Best Chance In Years To Win Congress Control.

PORTLAND, Me., March 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Not since the days of the Wilson administration have democrats had a better chance to win control of congress than in the next election, Congressman William A. Oldfield of Arkansas, told the delegates to the biennial democratic Maine state convention here Wednesday.

"The people," he said, "are becoming sick of the present plutocratic administration with its unfilled promises and pledges. They are tired of seeing favors traded for the big campaign contributions to the republican party. They are disgusted with the do nothing attitude and record of this administration and congress.

"No longer is the public being misled by false claims of prosperity and economy which have been and are being disseminated by a veritable army of propagandists. Unrest and discontent are not confined to the western states, whose representatives recently were sent back home by the administration leaders and rebuked for having dared to come to Washington demanding fulfillment of the republican campaign pledge of legislation to aid the farmers.

Purchasing Power Less.

"The purchasing power of the farmers' dollar has decreased under republican rule until it is worth only 61 cents, at least 20 cents less than it has been at an ytime during the last thirty-five years. And the value of the average citizen's dollar has decreased correspondingly.

"I deny that the country is experiencing general prosperity. I deny that the administration is practicing the strictest economy. I tell you that business is not good except in spots. Here in Maine and the rest of New England many of your textile mills and shoe factories have been running only part time, while on the other hand the agricultural industry is being destroyed.

"The outstanding issue of our party is the tariff. We advocate a downward revision of the Fordney-McCumber rates to a point where we will have a competitive revenue tariff. We insist that in doing this we will not only aid agriculture but help business conditions generally.

Other issues upon which we shall go before the country will be the do nothing attitude of the republican congress and administration; and the complete domination of the administration by the ultra-rich and heavy campaign contributors to the republican party. The anthracite coal strike could have and should have been stopped long before it was."

PHILADELPHIA.—(AP)—David L. Marshall, convicted Wednesday of second degree murder for the killing of Anna May Dietrich, faces a sentence of ten to twenty years, if he is not granted a new trial. The registered chiropractor, who admitted dismembering the woman's body after she died in his office, heard the jury verdict with little outward emotion.

SAYS FLEXIBLE TARIFF WRONG

Former Chairman Page Attacks Provision As Threat to Business.

Claims President Harding Sought to Influence Selection of Staff.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—The flexible provision of the tariff law was attacked as a threat and as a deterrent to bsiness by Thomas Walker Pager, former chairman of the tariff commission, in testimony Wednesday before the special senate committee investigating administration of the law.

The charge also was made that President Harding had sought to influence the selection of members of the commission staff and became "very angry" when he failed to get the commission to accept his candidate for the job of secretary.

The principle of the flexible tariff is all wrong, the former democratic chairman asserted. Tariff should not be flexible, but should be established by fixed rates set by congress he said.

"Business feels that it is under a constant threat and cannot make future operations," he added. "It is a deterrent to business and adds a speculative element that is highly undesirable. It has subjected the president to the charge of tinkering or refusing to tinker with the tariff for political reasons."

Only Two Reductions.

During the entire four years of its operations, he declared, there had been only two reductions in tariff rates, one on five "bob-white quail" and the other on mill feed.

Pressed by Senator La Follette, progressive republican, Wisconsin, for an elaboration on his charges of white house influence over staff appointments, the witness said that President Harding had sent for a commissioner and requested him to vote to retain a staff man after the commissioner had decided to oppose him. The commissioner came back from the white house, Page said, and voted for the man.

At another time, he related, an outsider made application for the job of secretary and addressed his application to President Harding and former Attorney General Daugherty. The commission was satisfied with the secretary then engaged and refused to heed the request of the president to remove him for the other man, he said, and the president did not like it at all.

The former chairman declared the powers of the commission shold be revised and the number of members reduced to four, made up of a lawyer, a business man, an industrial expert and one other with a judicial mind and sound judgment.

PREPARE FOR FLIGHT.

MADRID, March 25.—(AP)—The Spanish government appropriated 35,000 pesetas about $50,000) Wednesday for the proposed air flight from Madrid to the Philippine Islands. Capt. Joaquin Loriga and five other airmen and mechanicans will make the flight to Manila in a Breguet machine. The start is to be made late this month.

Owners Say Spend $4,000 Each Year On Their Pet Dog

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP)—Francie, a four pound black and tan exponent of what the well dressed dog will wear, arrived Wednesday on the liner Olympic from France with his master and mistress, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney M. Williams of New York, who said that Francie costs them $4,000 a year.

The trip, Mrs. Williams said, was made to replenish Francie's wardrobe at a fancy tailor's shop in Paris. It included, she explained, spring styles in sport clothes, with pockets for gloves and handkerchiefs, evening clothes, morning costumes, pajamas and other "necessities."

Francie, his mistress said, seldom drinks, but appreciates good liquor in a mild highball at tea time. American bootleg, however, is offensive to Francie's taste.

She said that she and Mr. Williams have four other dogs whose annual expense is $23,000 a year.

Mrs. Williams explained that in figuring the annual expenses of her dogs she always included the money she spent on them for travel, hotel accommodations, food and wardrobes.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

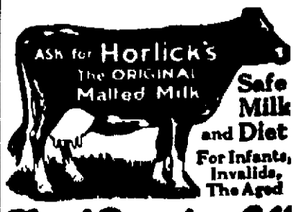

PARIS.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies, for weeks the scene of bitter strife over the financial policy of the government, devoted its entire morning session Wednesday, to a restful argument over the effect of rubber nipples on babies' health. This question has plainly nothing to do with the drop in the franc rate, but the legislators found it to be closely connected with the birth rate, and Deputy Pinard, dean of the chamber, speaking from the tribune, attacked the "nefarious nipples," which he declared threatened France's infant citizens with all the dangers from poisoning.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM.

Academic freedom has long been the refuge of those members of university instructional staffs who find it impossible to conform to the same restraints and limitations which circumscribe the actions of the majority.

It is the most abused phrase in the English language.

In the practical atmosphere of the business and industrial world there is little reference to academic freedom. Business knows its own necessities. It must have a well-organized, smooth-working and high-efficient force or staff of workers. There must be due and proper recognition of authority. Any infraction of discipline or any instance of insubordination is promptly recognized and punished, according to the circumstances of the case. It would be preposterous if the offending worker should plead academic freedom in excuse of his failure to follow instructions; the utmost folly for him to attempt to justify his failure to fit into the general program of the institution because he saw fit to formulate his own course of action.

The recent agitation at the University of Nebraska to abolish military drill or make it optional on the part of the students throws a new light upon these champions of academic freedom.

It is a matter of small concern to them whether the state university has a solemn obligation to conduct the courses in military science. The precious "privilege" which they call academic freedom, through which they give voice to their individual judgments, transcends such a small matter as a contract which has been recognized by the land grant colleges of this country. It is not a matter of importance whether this contract is enforceable in law or not. It is a contract and should be recognized as such. The attitude of certain university pastors in urging that this be set aside is amazing to say the least. Nor is it a matter of any great consequence that the state of Wisconsin did not see fit to fulfill its responsibility in this matter. Nebraska, in common with other land grant colleges, has acknowledged her obligation. The failure of Wisconsin to live up to an agreement provides no very good reason why the university of this state should be equally careless and indifferent towards its contract. A legislature in Wisconsin also considered steps to nullify the national prohibition act. would these same friends of academic freedom urge similar action in Nebraska?

Academic freedom of this character deserves to be known by another name.

* * *

The champions of this campaign to abolish military drill have succeeded in confusing the issue. The impression has gone out in the state that men are compelled to take the courses in military science, who entertain true conscientious scruples against such training. Now such is not the case. No student at the university, who by reason of religious views is opposed to the training, is compelled to take it. He has always been given a respectful hearing and has been given an excuse upon the proper showing.

Youth may, and generally does entertain a good many notions that it knows what is best for its own welfare. That does not prove anything. More often it is wrong than it is right. Youth must be subjected to some restraint and some discipline and there is no finer training in the university in this particular than that which comes from military drill.

Of course the advocates of academic freedom do not like restraint. They want to be allowed to throw all the "monkey wrenches" they desire. They do not care how much confusion they may cause or what injury may result. They are in the blessed quest of truth. If most of them spent their time assimilating the lessons which history reveals, they would not have so much leisure for the pursuit of the bubbles which they chase. Very little in the way of new thought has been added to the sum total of the world's knowledge in the last few years. The pet hobbies and theories which engross the attention of these champions of academic freedom all have their echoes in the experience of man throughout the long ages.

To be sure the regents do not want to interfere with the freedom of thought of any one connected with the state university. They are anxious to permit the widest latitude. But they would be conferring a deep favor upon a busy, practical world if they took some of these champions of academic freedom by the ears and gently led them to the woodshed.

SHOW US THE BENEFITS.

Now that the Gooding bill has been defeated in the senate, an excellent opportunity is presented for those who fought the measure to make good on their promises and representations that lower rates could and would be made in the middle west if the railroads were allowed to meet the competition of water-borne traffic via the Panama canal and thus enlarge their gross earnings, without being compelled to sacrifice part of their present revenues by cutting rates for intermediate hauls to the same level as those to coast destinations.

If things work out in this way, the people of Nebraska and neighboring states will feel satisfied with the outcome of the long controversy. But if the pledges given should not be made good, there will be general disappointment and resentment in this section.

There are pending before the interstate commerce commission at the present time applications by the western carriers for a blanket increase of 5 per cent in freight rates throughout the Mississippi and Missouri river valleys, and also for a further 15 per cent advance in class rates. Are these demands to be pressed as they have been heretofore? Will the railroads still insist on collecting greater toll from Nebraska's agricultural and live stock industries for the service they perfom in transporting its products to market? And will the inhabitants of the Cornhusker state and adjoining states still be asked to contribute more to the eastern-owned transportation companies on the shipped-in goods which they consume?

This part of the country has long felt itself the object of unfavorable discrimination in railroad rates, compared with those enjoyed by both the east and west coast regions. Construction of the Panama canal has brought it no benefit, although a very large part of the cost of that project was paid by the interior section.

The Gooding bill was sponsored by senators from the Rocky Mountain states who claimed that industries in their territory were unjustly hampered by coast competition enjoying more favorable rates on longer hauls. It would have forbidden the railroads to charge more for a shipment from Chicago or New York to Boise, Ia., or Spokane, Wash., than on goods of the same kind shipped from Chicago or New York to Seattle or Portland.

In opposing the measure, the railroads and many chambers of commerce in the cities contended that a hard and fast rule like that laid down by the Gooding bill would make it impossible for the carriers to compete with ships operating through the Panama canal. They argued that if the railroads were allowed to pick up some additional through traffic to the west coast at low rates, instead of hauling back empty cars which had brought the products of California, Washington, Oregon, Hawaii, the Philippines, China and Japan to consuming territory east of the Rockies, the railroads could then afford to make lower rates in the middle western territory.

It will become apparent in the near future whether that promise was made in good faith, or whether it was just a talking point to win votes against the Gooding bill. There is going to be a great deal of popular interest in how the thing works out.

Should the middle west fail to secure relief from freight rate inequalities under which it has hitherto labored, and especially if its transportation burdens should be further increased to satisfy the clamor of already prosperous carriers for more revenue, it will create a very pronounced belief throughout the corn and wheat belt that another gold brick has been handed to the people of the great food-producing area.

A TREMENDOUS WASTE.

Wastefulness is recognized as one of the besetting sins of the American people and because nature has been so prolific with native wealth, it has only been within comparatively recent years that any attention has been paid to our profligacy with respect to this bounty. We had almost stripped the land of timber before any attention was paid to the reckless waste that was being indulged in, but it has been the same way with most of our other natural resources.

It is to be taken for granted that almost everyone knows that oil has been allowed to go to waste in shocking quantities, yet who would have supposed six are wasted? A statement to this effect was made a few days ago by Dr. William T. Thom, chief of the fuel section of the United States geological survey.

Dr. Thom stated that the waste of oil in this country amounts to 4,560,000,000 barrels per year, approximately six barrels being lost for every one that is extracted. This is mainly because of the high pressure competition among drillers and the unscientific methods employed by them. It was further stated by Dr. Thom that another barrel might be saved by improved methods of drilling and probably two more by other refining methods which are now being considered by geologists and physicists. There are, however, three barrels out of every seven which cannot be saved by any known method.

The total oil production in this country is now 760,000,000 barrels yearly, with a valuation of over one billion dollars. Dr. Thom says that if a million dollars were provided annually for investigation in pure science and technology it is highly probable that at least one of the six barrels now lost might be saved. This would mean an annual saving of a billion dollars in return for the investment of a million.

It would seem under such circumstances that the oil men, with their practically unlimited resources, would make such investment as the one suggested by Dr. Thom, but they are apparently content to grab such fields as may come into view, working them in the same old way and taking such profit as they are able to under the present system. It may be that when the oil is all gone there will be somthing else to feed to internal combustion engines.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

A most excellent example of law enforcement is that which comes from a Michigan college, where twenty-one members of a sorority reported ten young men who indulged in a few "drinks" at a dance.

"Not because we are prudish, but because we are old-fashioned girls, with old-fashioned ideals," these young women said in explanation of their act.

No unseemly conduct precipitated this decision. Very few of those at the dance were aware liquor had been brought to the hall. The action can be attributed to nothing but a desire on the part of these young women to obey the laws of the land. After all law is nothing more than the rules which society forms to safeguard and protect itself. It has no more strength than the sentiment back of it. If a community does not feel the pressing need of such a law, then it is safe to conclude enforcement of it will be lax. Effective administration will come with an aroused and an aggressive public sentiment back of it.

Lawmakers might very well keep this in mind when they come to pass upon various proposals brought before them.

Is the sentiment back of it representative of the majority? Will the people who must bow to its mandate recognize that it is necessary for their own welfare?

The intelligent, observing lawmaker should have little difficulty in discriminating between a measure which has awakened and united public sentiment back of it, and one which represents the selfish interest or the fanatical zeal of a noisy, determined and audacious minority. Much of the legislation on the statute books today is of the latter type. It is there because the majority is generally indifferent.

The attempt to regulate traffic, one of the big problems in every American city today, will be no more successful than popular sentiment makes it. The effort to reduce crime in this country will succeed in no larger measure than the public makes known its determination to uncover and punish lawlessness and viciousness. There is enough law today to reach every type of wrongdoer. The reason why so many escape punishment is because the public has not seen fit to recognize that primary responsibility of law enforcement rests with it.

More Truth Than Poetry.

IDLE CURIOSITY.

I seldom hurry past the mob
That gathers where men dig a hole;
To watch the boys upon the job
Seems soothing, somehow, to my soul.
I'm always tempted when I see
A smith who hammers irons flat
To linger for a while; to me
There's joy in such a sight as that.

I often wonder why men care
To watch like boobies, rain or shine
And clutter up the sidewalk where
Some one is lettering a sign.
In calm stupidity they wait,
Forgetting how the moments flit;
The painter's skill may not be great—
That doesn't matter, not a bit.

The window washer and the man
Who paints the flag pole make me stop;
The cook who flips cakes in the pan
Gives me delight with every flop;
I often stand with those who gaze
Where overloaded trucks are bogged,
Or watch the skill some man displays
In cleaning drains that have been clogged.

By watching other men whose plight
It is to have to climb or dig
I waste a lot of time that might
Be turned to profit small or big;
Perhaps this is because I'm one
Of those at whom I've taken flings
For leaving their own tasks undone
While watching others doing things.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

EYES AND DIGESTION.

D. Wants an answer to the following question: Is it harmful for the eyes to read while eating or right after it?

The only thing that I can think of that would cause reading to disturb while eating would be the reading of anything very exciting or sad. The emotions aroused by such reading might delay digestion. I don't know that the eyes would be hurt any, if the light is right.

SLEEP AND DIGESTION.

How long after an ordinary meal should one wait to take a nap, and what interval of time should elapse between dinner and bedtime?

Some experiments have been performed which show that sleeping directly after a meal caused an increase in the acidity of the gastric juices and a decrease in the muscular activity of the stomach. It was thought that the increased acidity was due to the prolonged retention of food in the stomach. (It was observed that resting in the horizontal position encouraged digestion, but it was necessary that the patient be awake.) For these reasons one should not take a nap after a hearty meal late at night, unless the retiring hour is late. Three or four hours should elapse between a hearty meal and retiring. This time allows the stomach opportunity to empty itself into the intestines and sleep does not interfere with intestinal digestion.

EXERCISE AND DIGESTION.

How long after a meal is it all right to exercise vigorously, such as tennis and rapid hiking?

This would depend upon the size of the meal—two hours at least should elapse after a heavy meal. A shorter time could elapse after a light meal.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE AND OVERWEIGHT.

"Dear Doctor: I have reduced my weight from 215 to 173, or 42 pounds' loss. My blood pressure is reduced from 210 to 146 points, and I never felt better in my life. I'm still eating according to your directions. I am 54 years of age and am a locomotive engineer by profession, so you see I get plenty of exercise.—E."

There is one thing we do know about high blood pressure, and that is that it is very frequently associated with overweight; reducing the weight invariably reduces the blood pressure. I can tell you, E., that you are much safer with blood pressure at 146 than at 210—and so are your passengers!

(Those of you who missed the instructions may have the booklet on reducing by sending ten cents in stamps with self-addressed, stamped envelope. We also have an article on High Blood Pressure, which may interest you.)

NO NAME OR ADDRESS.

G. has troubles which she cannot explain to her over-busy father, and she has no mother.

Your troubles are such that I cannot advise you on them in the column, G., and you didn't give your full name and address, so I could write you personally. (Occasionally I break my rule and do this.) You must talk with your father. He would feel unhappy if he knew you felt that way: and he must take you to a physician, preferably a woman physician.

How about your diet? Are you getting at least three glasses of milk daily, one cupful of vegetables, part raw, one full cup of fresh fruit, whole grain breads and cereals, some eggs, nuts, cottage cheese or some flesh foods? Are you sleeping with your windows open and are you out in the fresh air a lot?

Send for our article on Balanced Diet. (Enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope with request.)

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers.

The worst joke I heard today was told to me by Carl Clancy of New York. Carl is just about the nicest and most gentlemanly young man you would ever meet. Carl promoted a movie one time with me in it, and while it didn't make any money, we had a good lot of fun making it, and Carl has got some other big scheme now that he wants me to go and take pictures over in Europe. Old Carl can sure dream 'em out. He is an ideal scenario writer. He can make you do the greaterst thing, on paper, you ever saw. He had one scene in this European thing where I was to be playing polo with the Prince of Wales, against the king of Spain, with Mussolini refereeing. I don't know why he left the king of England out of it, unless it was some personal grudge he may have against the king. I wouldn't have minded him in at at all. I guess he would have included the French minister of affairs, but he didn't know who he was at that minute. Old Clancy will hit on one of his dreams some day, him and Ham. Ham is Clancy's private tester, and counsellor at law. Clancy had a story, curse him.

A little girl's mother had just given an afternoon party to all the other women in the eighborhood. Some of the visitig ladies got to talking to her.

"Why, Mary, are you around here so close? I would think you were out playing with all the other children?"

"Well, Mama gave me a task to do," said Mary. "In fact she gives me one or more tasks to do every day."

"I have to count the spoons after you all have gone."

University Pastors Express Views On Military Training

Student pastors at the University of Nebraska have given individual statements of their views in the present agitation against compulsory military training. Three of the pastors out of seven state they are not in sympathy with the movement to abolish drill, and declare themselves in harmony with the regents' stand; one refuses to commit himself; and the remaining three are emphatic in their opposition to military drill, two of them leveling some pointed remarks at the regents' attitude concerning the "propriety" of agitating such a question while engaged in student religious work. The secretaries of the two Christian associations also made statements. The statements follow:

Henry Erck of the Missouri Synod Lutheran church said:

"With regard to the present controversy, I beg to state that I have not been and am not now identified with the movement to secure the abolishment of compulsory military training at the University of Nebraska for obvious reasons. In the first place, I realize that the privileges which I enjoy are accorded me as spiritual adviser to students of the synodical conference of the Lutheran church. As such I have no interest in interfering with the policies of administration obtaining at this institution. Secondly, any interference on my part in this matter would involve a violation of the principle of my church which stands for complete and uniquivocal separation of church and state, and for violation of which I would be held to account."

Mr. Arthur Jorgensen, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., expresses his opinion of the matter in the following words:

"As an alumnus of the University, I believe that the finest academic traditions and aspirations, stressing as they do the open-mind, the tolerant spirit, and the untramelled search for truth, are hindered and not helped by a strong military department whose development depends upon compulsion rather than the free choice of the individual students.

"As a citizen of the state I believe that compulsory military training is un-democratic and un-American.

"As an American I am opposed to any step, not absolutely essential, that makes easier the application of force rather than reason to issues arising between nations. In my judgment, compulsory military training is such a step.

"In all this I speak only my personal opinion and in no sense as a representative of any group or organization with which I may be connected."

Reverend L. W. McMillin, priest in charge, University Episcopal chrch states his atitude toward the matter as follows: "Because of the impression that seems to be abroad on the campus that all of the religious workers here are sponsoding the present agitation regarding compulsory military training, I wish briefly to state my attitude on this question.

"I have always been in favor of compulsory military training in colleges and preparatory schools and I can see no good reason yet for changing my views. I need not go into all of my reasons which include physical exercise, dignity of bearing; sanitation, teaching patriotism, obedience, respect for the law and order, etc. Aside from all that, I believe that land grant colleges are in duty bound to have compulsory military training. More than that, we have here the matter of the contract with the federal government in regard to the R. O. T. C. A contract should be a contract. If this university does away with compulsory training, it breaks this contract. We have our opinion of individuals who break contracts. Does an institution have any more right to do so?

"We all want peace. I am a pacifist to the extent of not wanting our country to engage in a useless offensive war, but I am not a pacifist to the extent of not wanting our country to be prepared for a defensive war.

"I feel that if this question becomes a matter of referendum every effort should be put forth to inform the voters of this state as to just what the real issue is, to show them that his university faces a moral obligation to the federal government to have compulsory military training, and not to let them be guided in their voting by mere sentimentalism."

Dean R. Leland, Presbyterian university pastor, "I am not identified with, and have had no part in the organizing of the movement to make military training in the university optional instead of required. As between optional and required military training, I do not find a moral argument to make an issue.

"Furthermore, the interpretation of the legal obligations involved, and the administration of the requirement of military instruction in most land grant colleges and universities, are the responsibility of the United States government and the university authorities whose duty it is through a right kind of education to make our stdents capable, right-minded citizens."

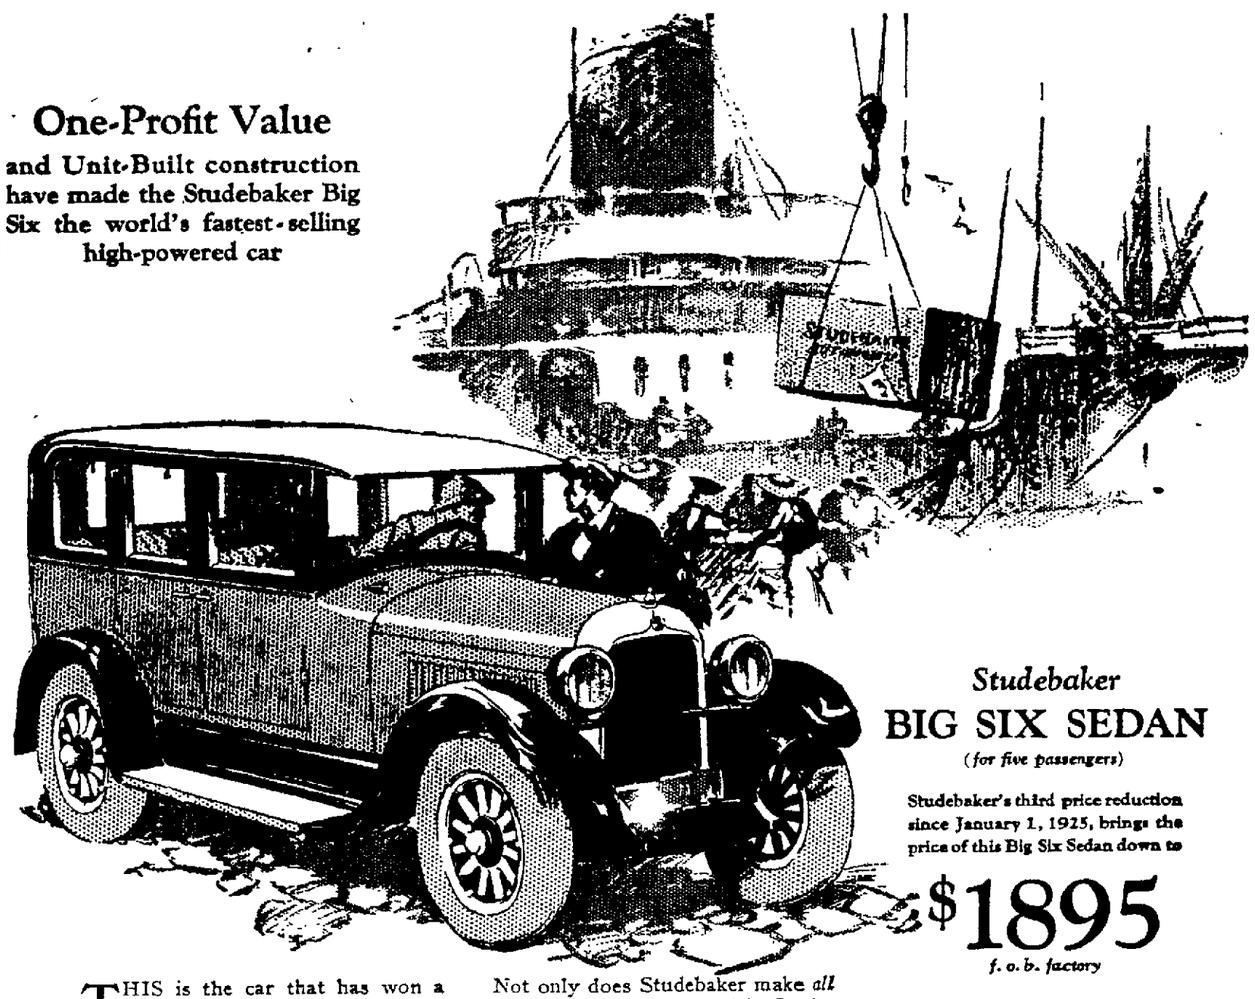

Miss Irma Appleby, secretary of the University Y. W. C. A. was short, stating "In a qestion of this kind I have believed in a certain degree of freedom for everybody concerned, and for the thing that is most in accord with universal good will."

Rev. Carey J. Pope, Baptist pastor, refused to make any statement.

Harold E. Fey, Christian church, had this to say: "Why do the regents object to an accounting to the people of the state in regard to compulsory drill? They need not fear losing that $250,000 subsidy from the government, for Wiscon-

"One-Profit" Studebaker Wins the World

One-Profit Value and Unit-Built construction have made the Studebaker Big Six the world's fastest-selling high-powered car

Studebaker BIG SIX SEDAN (for five passengers)

Studebaker's third price reduction since January 1, 1925, brings the price of this Big Six Sedan down to

$1895 f. o. b. factory

To surpass it in rated horsepower costs $2855 to $8155 more

THIS is the car that has won a world tribute to One-Profit manufacture. All over the globe the Big Six Studebaker outsells every other car of equal or greater rated horsepower.

American automobile exports increased 44% in 1925 over 1924, but Studebaker exports increased 63%.

Only seven American cars, according to the rating of the Society of Automotive Engineers, have more power than the Big Six—and they sell at two to four times its price.

Not only does the Big Six offer a powerful, dependable, sweet-running engine, but also a staunch body construction which is not excelled by any car at any price.

Not one of the other cars which exceed the Big Six in rated horsepower enjoys the Big Six advantages of volume production or of One-Profit manufacture.

Studebaker's unique facilities

Few motor car "manufacturers" have foundries, forges, etc., to make their own engines—yet one-fifth of the cost of an automobile is in the engine. Even fewer build their own bodies—yet one-third of the cost of a car is in the body.

Not only does Studebaker make all bodies and all engines used in Studebaker cars, but also all clutches, gear sets, springs, differentials, steering gears, axles, brakes, gray-iron castings and drop forgings. Only Studebaker in the fine-car field enjoys the benefits of such complete facilities.

One-Profit value

These facilities enable Studebaker to eliminate the profits of outside parts and body makers. Many major savings are thus effected and passed on to the ultimate buyers of Studebaker cars, either in the form of higher quality, lower price—or both.

Studebaker facilities result, too, in Unit-Built construction—in cars designed, engineered and built as units. The hundreds of parts used in a Studebaker car function together as a unit, resulting in greater riding comfort and scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation.

Always kept up-to-date

Because all phases of manufacture are directly under Studebaker control, Studebaker cars are constantly kept up-to-date. We add improvements regardless of the calendar—we do not save them up for spectacular annual announcements which make cars artificially obsolete. Resale values are thus stabilized.

THE 5-Passenger Big Six Sedan is powered with the identical engine that carries hundreds of Studebaker busses at high speed over some of the most mountainous and difficult-to-travel roads in America—hence we urge you to compare its thrilling performance with that of the finest "eights" and "sixes."

It is richly upholstered in genuine mohair, which is indicative of the fine quality body construction you cannot see. Body pillars are of northern white ash—cross-members of hard maple.

Spark is automatically controlled by the speed of the engine. The spark lever is thus made obsolete and is replaced on the steering wheel by the safety lighting switch. There's also an automatic windshield cleaner, rear-view mirror, cowl ventilator, air cleaner, oil and gas filters, gasoline gauge on the dash, stop light, inspection light on 10-foot cord, and a splendid coincidental lock to ignition and steering wheel controlled by the key that operates the door and the spare-tire locks.

Ride in it, feel the surge of power from the smooth, silent engine, compare its performance with the very finest "eights" as well as "sixes." Then you will know why the Big Six outsells all other cars of equal or greater rated horsepower.

MINORITY REPORT FAVORS ENGLISH

Three Members Of House Judiciary Committee Oppose Impeachment.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Opposition to impeachment of Federal Judge George W. English of Illinois, is expressed in a minority report being prepared by three members of the house judiciary committee.

Insufficiency of evidence is the basis of the arguments which are being written by Representatives Bowling, democrat, Alabama, Mickey, republican, Indiana, and Weaver, democrat, North Carolina. Representatives Yates, republican, Illinois, another committee member, has announced he may file additional views.

The position of Representative Weller, democrat, New York, has not been made known. He was the only member of the special committee of seven who investigated the case last summer to vote against recommending impeachment.

DEFEAT OF JAKE WAS BIG UPSET

Hagenlacher's Victory Came As Shock to Balk Line Fans.

BIDS FOR 18.1 TITLE

NEW YORK, March 25.—(I. N. S.)—Erich Hagenlacher of Germany, who won the world's 18.2 balk-line billiard championship recently, announced today that he has filed a challenge to meet the winner of the Willie Hoppe-Jake Schaefer for the 18.1 title. The match, a 3,600-point affair, will begin here next Monday.

BY AL SPINK

The recent defeat of Young Jake Schaefer in his challenge match with Erich Hagenlacher the German champion, and the loss of the world's championship at 18-2 balk-line billiards by the great American player to a foreigner, caused a sensation the world over in billiard circles.

Schaefer's defeat, more than anything else, proves that the foreign colony of balk-line players who came into the world's billiard tournaments only a few years ago is at last a power to be reckoned with. This fact was proven not only by Hagenlacher's recent victory, but by the winning of the world's championship by Horemans from Schaefer a few months ago.

After his defeat by Horemans, Schaefer won back his title and his playing up to the time he met Hagenlacher was so wonderful that he went into his match with the latter a prohibitive favorite.

Gave Jake Big Surprise.

The German's best friends did not concede him a chance,-but he won away off and gave the Schaefer following the surprise of its life.

In the world of billiards the victory of Hagenlacher was a most popular one.

The German is a fine, big fellow, kindly and good natured at all times, and from head to toe looks the part of a champion.

Of course Schaefer is well known. He has been in the limelight so long that the average billiard fan knows his weight, height and size of his collar.

While Hagenlacher has participated in championship contests before, he has not been before the public eye enough to be as well known as his famous opponent.

He has been playing billiards since his seventeenth year. He is now 30, stands 5 feet 11 inches in height, and weighs 160 pounds.

He is a great exponent of the balk-line style of play. Although he has been thrice defeated by Schaefer in former championship play, including Schaefer's famous 400 to 0 runout from spot in the last championship tournament, he practiced with great diligence for this match and was hopeful of being the first German to win the world's championship.

When it came to the supreme test, the German proved himself a master cueman. He played the game in serene fashion, and the power of his execution showed that he will be a dangerous opponent at any time. Before meeting Schaefer in his challenge match, Hagenlacher had a host of followers who had gathered around his banner since watching his recent exhibition matches in the east. They reported him as being 100 per cent improved.

Hoppe Next Challenger.

He gained a large following of admirers, and also great confidence in himself by his double triumph over Willie Hoppe in their recent matches of 3,600 to 2,400 points.

This will be the last of the world challenge matches at 18-2 balk-line billiards until next fall, when, according to the rules, Hoppe will be eligible to challenge Hagenlacher, the winner of the last title match.

Among the famous golf stars who learned the game while acting as caddies are Francis Ouimet and Gene Sarazer.

Lincoln Boxers Don Mittens In Omaha Program

OMAHA, March 25.—(AP)—Pete Sarmiento, Filipino bantamweight, and Harold Smith, Chicago, headline the American Legion's boxing show here tonight. Other bouts are Teddy Gartin, Lincoln, vs. Bill Fisher, welterweights, Bearcat Wright vs. Thunderbolt Bourland, heavyweights, and Frankie Larabee, Lincoln, vs. Frankie Conley, lightweights.

Morrie Still On Firing Line.

OMAHA, Neb., March 25.—(AP)—Back home from a rather disastrous but profitable eastern invasion of fistiana, Morrie Schlaefer, Omaha welter, claims he is far from "through."

"Just because a fellow loses a couple of tough bouts is no cause why everyone should cry he is through," Morrie reasons.

Morrie said he would like to get a return with Shuffle Callahan, Chicago "puncher," who scored a technical knockout over him in their recent bout.

DO THEIR STUFF IN PRACTICE MIX

Members of Lincoln Squad Stage Workout Clash At Claremore.

BY AUGUST F. SCHLEICKER.

CLAREMORE Okla., March 24.—Kelly Wales, team, split from the training squad yesterday defeated the selections of Dan Lowry in a four-inning practice game that was umpired by Pitcher Al Pallas. The two managers handled their men in big league style, much to the amusement of their respective teams. Pallas, in his official position, held the game to as few hits possible without seriously offending the batting eyes of the men.

It was a game for practice and the first two innings were devoted to a general slugging contest, with the Wales outfit getting the advantage of a 7 to 6 start before the game really settled into a rivalry.

Wilkins walked Walters in the opening frame for one of the two free passes of the game. Walters was lead-off man for Wales' squad. Kelly, himself, took the other free trip when Wilkins hurled a wide one with a two-three count on the batter.

Dutch Spears Line Drive.

Manager "Dutch" Zwilling made the sensational play of the day when in the last frame he robbed Swanson of a hit with a diving one-hand catch of a line drive. Zwilling was holding down first.

Lefty Palmer, the California recruit, looked good in his first warmup, but after cooling out and rewarming he was a bit wild, letting two wild pitches start from the box in his two frames.

The rangy McDonnell seemed in reasonable form, considering the cool wind that swept Perrier's park Wednesday afternoon. Johnson worked a slow curve and Wilkins offered his fast one. Lineups of the teams.

How They Lined Up.

Wales' club—Walters, ss, Steiner, 3b, Zwilling, 1b, Newton, cf, Smith, lf, Craig, 2b, Arnold, rf, Wales, c, McDonnell and Palmer, p.

Lowry's club—McCready, 3b; Swanson, 2b, Gunther, 1b, Bliss, cf, Mann, lf, Pillette, ss, Houck, rf, Lowry, c, Wilkins and Johnson, p.

Hagen and Bobby Set the Pace For Florida Golfers

ST PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25.—(I. N. S.)—Walter Hagen, who has been displaying some wonderful golf on the Florida courses this winter, today was winner of the West Coast open tournament for the fourth time. Hagen closed the season by winning the Pasadena event with rounds of 70-73-69-71—283.

Hagen had to play great golf to nose out Bobby Jones, amateur champion, by two strokes. Hagen averaged 70 3-4 strokes, while Jones averaged 71 1-4 strokes per round.

Hagen and Jones dominated the field, with Bobby Cruickshank, third with 287, and a lot of other good ones, such as Tommy Armour, Bill Mehlhorn, Al Espinosa and Cyril Walker, trailing behind them.

Root Shows Goods In Trouncing Missions

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—(I. N. S.)—Charley Root, who did some fancy twirling in the Coast league last year, stepped out on the mound for the Chicago Cubs yesterday and held the Mission Bears to six hits, winning his game by a score of 3 to 1.

Studebaker Tests for Hardness Of Metal Used in Auto Parts

At the upper left is shown a young woman inspector in the Studebaker plant testing piston pins by means of the sclesoscope or "bouncing ball" machine.

A diamond is set in a small steel ball which bounces up along a scale as the inspectrix carefully watches it. The ball is dropped from a fixed height upon the piece of metal to be tested for hardness. The harder the steel, the higher the ball bounces. The inspector knows within what limits the ball must come. When it falls short or bounces too far, the metal is too soft and yielding or too hard and brittle, and is discarded.

This machine is used on parts with mirrorlike surfaces which must not be marred in testing.

The "ocular micrometer," shown below at the left, is another unique machine used in testing in a dozen parts of Studebaker plants. It tests the hardness of castings and forgings before they are machined to smoothness and precision.

A 10-millimeter ball is pressed against the piece to be tested—a crankshaft in this case—at a specified pressure. Then an inspector examines the size of the impression made by the ball, using the ocular micrometer, which is a microscope equipped with a special scale on the field.

Limits, in this, the Brinnel test, are close. If the impression is too wide, the metal is too soft, and would twist under too low a torsional stress, so is discarded. If the impression is too narrow, the metal is too hard and brittle for use in an axle shaft.

University Pastors Express Views On Military Training

sm, where drill has been made elective, still receives it.

"As to the charge of impropriety leveled against the religious workers for 'conducting from offices given them by the regents a campaign against the traditional policies of the institution' two answers can be made. Firstly, the offices so used are in the Temple building, which was built by Rockefeller money and funds raised by public subscription for the specific use of religious and welfare organizations and for student activities. Such organizations do not occupy 'offices given them by the regents.' Secondly, these workers, or anybody else, have the right in a democratic government to appeal to the people when any governing board of a state institution persists in so un-American a policy as wholesale conscription of youth. Would they have us believe that patriotism is so dead that the national defense cannot be cared for by voluntary enlistment, but that the United States must resort to the policies of imperialistic Germany in order to be safe?"

Fredrick W. Leavitt, Congregational university pastor, expresses his opinion in the following manner.

"My conviction of years is that war is irrational, entirely futile, and a menace that can be only fended off by "preparedness for peace." I believe that America, richest and most powerful of nations, has a divine commission to lead the nations into peace, and that she can do so only by proving to all nations her invincible good will. Each citizen must do his part in this. I believe that in the longrun it will "promote the general welfare," and thus be more patriotic, to think peace and prepare for peace rather to think of war and prepare for war. We will lose less and gain more. President Coolidge said, in substance, to the graduates of 1923 at Annapolis, and to the American Legion at Omaha, that no defense we can amass will protect our nation unless we do what is right. Even in international relations I believe that no other force is as practical as the application of the Golden Rule."

Harry F. Huntington, Methodist university pastor gave this statement:

'Having been asked to give my reaction to the regents' statement as it relates to the "religious and feliare workers" at the University of Nebraska, I will say respectfully that I think that the regents went somewhat beyond their sphere when they "respectfully suggest that all churches and societies assigning religious and welfare workers to the institution select those who will cooperate with the university authorities in maintaining the policies of the school."

"Since this matter of opposition to the compulsory feature of military training is the only instance of lack of co-operation, it resolves itself into this: the church should find out in advance whether the proposed representative has convictions against the compulsory feature of military training. If he has, will he suppress his convictions and surrender the right of a citizen to assist in the submission of the question to a vote of the people? I suppose the religious worker, when given the regents' test be found in harmony with them in regard to the compulsory feature of military training, and then later undergoes a change in regard to this particular subject. How often should he be examined, once a year, or once a semester, or oftener? It is easily seen that the question has its difficulties. When I came to the university as university pastor I was not opposed to compulsory military training. I had had it myself and held the traditional view in regard to it.

"Inasmuch as the regents feel qualified to suggest to outside organizations that they test their pastors to find out where they stand, they will, if consistent, test any prospective instructors as to their stand on compulsory military training and warn them against expressing views contrary to the views of the regents. Talk of interference with academic freedom. The position of the regents in regard to the attitude of those "religious and welfare workers who oppose compulsory military training is absurd. They not only imply the denial of academic freedom but freedom of conscience and the freedom of citizenship, as well. I appreciate the fine co-operation I have had with the university and shall endeavor to co-operate in every way possible, but I shall consider it my privilege to act independently in all matters involving conscience and principle."

Raymond Gavin was re-elected president of the freshman class at the regular semesterly election last week.

SHOULD HUSBANDS DO HOUSE WORK?

How Mrs. Dyer Solved the Problem.

Mrs. Mildred Dyer was lucky. She had a good-natured husband who helped her with much of her housework. Because she was in ill health for five years, it was often necessary for him to do this. But it bothered Mrs. Dyer. She felt that he had to work hard enough anyway. The time he spent in doing her work was needed for his own. She determined to find the road to better health.

She writes: "I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is simply wonderful. My health is better than it has ever been. I am getting stronger and gaining in weight."

The Dyers live at Redlands, Calif., Route A, Box 183.

How often does your husband have to do your housework? No matter how willing he is, no woman feels comfortable about it. Perhaps you, too, will find better health through the faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

STRIBLING FACES STRENUOUS TEST

Georgian Must Stop Buffalo Boy Or Lose Prestige In Ring Circles.

NEW YORK, March 25.—(I. N. S.)—It will be do or die a figurative death for Young Stribling in his ten-round bout with Jimmy Slattery at Madison Square Garden tonight. If he intends to take his place among the heavyweight contenders he must beat Slattery decisively. A hair-line decision won't do.

Slattery, a sensation at this time last year, has been knocked out since then by Dave Slade, a welterweight at the time, and by Paul Berlenbach, and no longer is considered a serious contender for anything.

Slattery Regains Speed.

Reports from Buffalo, however, declare that Slattery is stepping at his old speed and may give Stribling a surprise.

But in spite of any change in conditions, Stribling will have to win almost as impressively as did Shade and Berlenbach or forfeit his standing as a heavyweight contender.

A bout with Gene Tunney will be exhumed from the Miami grave if Stribling shows to real advantage tonight.

Stribling the Favorite.

He is an 8 to 5 favorite, but these odds may shorten at gong time, many having become convinced that Slattery is due for a comeback. He got a close decision over Stribling at six rounds two years ago, when both were under the age limit.

Mat Squad In Numeral Meet

Three championships in the annual "numeral" wrestling tournament at the University of Nebraska were decided Wednesday afternoon on the armory mats.

John Kish of Lincoln copped the 115-pound title when he won over Enzor Kellogg with a time advantage of 3 minutes 37 seconds.

Aubrey Hurron of Lincoln won the 125-pound division by decisioning Paul Hurron of Roswell, New Mexico with a time margin of 5 minutes 55 seconds.

Everett Blessing of Dakota City gained the 175-pound title by defeating Joe Tomin of St Paul with a time advantage of 5 minutes 25 seconds. Lowell Waldo of DeWitt was the lone contender in the heavyweight group.

In the 145-pound preliminaries, Paul Vahle dumped M. F. Johnston with a body chancery in 40 seconds. R. J. Andrews decisioned Benson with a time advantage of 4 minutes 35 seconds. Tyler Buchanon defeated Vahle with a margin of 3 minutes 10 seconds and Andrews pinned Charles Abbott with a reverse headlock in 5 minutes 27 seconds.

Glen Buck went into the 135-pound finals by dumping Schrader with a half nelson and body chancery in 2 minutes 50 seconds.

Claire Bishop and Lawrence Potadle will battle for the 158-pound title in the semi-finals. Potadle had a 5 minute 10 second edge over Otto Gross and Bishop decisioned Forbes with a margin of 5 minutes 9 seconds.

Lincoln "Sec" Likes Looks of Zwilling Outfit

Declares Links Are "In" With Pennant Contender

Secretary of Lincoln Club Home From Spring Camp at Claremore With Glowing Reports That Manager Zwilling and His Gang Have Goods to Bid for Western League Gonfalon.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

The pleasing pronouncement that Lincoln is "in" this year with a Western league pennant contender was made today by Charles N. Moon, business manager and secretary of the Links. The "sec" returned Thursday morning to the home camp from a week's stay at Claremore, Okla., where Manager Dutch Zwilling and his squad of athletes are in spring training, and promptly went to bat with the declaration that everything is jake with the Lincoln club; that "Dutch" and his baseballing gang will have the goods to accomplish genuine results in the approaching race for the 1926 bunting.

Harmony at Claremore.

"Zwilling has convinced me that he knows his eggs," Secretary Moon informed The Star. "He has taken hold of the situation at Claremore with a display of managerial ability that confirmed every prediction. The players are hustling for him and all is harmony at Claremore.

"Dutch has had only a bunch of youngsters during the first week, yet he has them on their toes and working over-time in the hope of making good and earning places as regulars. Dutch took his rookies over to Shawnee the other day for a two-game series with the St. Joseph club. The Saints lacked but little of having their full strength in the field, but Dutch and his rookies gave the St. Joseph outfit a real fight both days, losing by close scores.

Regulars Due This Week.

"Nearly all the regulars are expected to be in camp before the end of this week and then the Links—the real Links—will begin to function smoothly. After looking at the youngsters whom Dutch has been tutoring, I predict that the rookies standing the best chance to stick with the team are a pair of right-hand pitchers— String McDonnell and Charley Johnson.

"Of the additional recruits, Painter, a shortstop, has been showing the most class. Painter is a high school youngster from the Pacific coast. He needs seasoning in a league of lower class and Zwilling is trying now to place the boy on a deal that will allow the Links to reclaim him.

At Okmulgee Saturday.

"Gottleber, Haley, Marty, Blenkiron and Brucker are due in Claremore this week and the Links ought to be in fair shape for their two-game series with Okmulgee, beginning Saturday. A week later, the Links will go to Fort Smith, Ark., for a three-game series, followed by two weekend games at Muskogee. By that time, the club will be going at top speed and completely in readiness for the opening of the pennant race, dated for April 11 at Tulsa.

"Keenan, Achenbach and Houck, pitchers purchased by Owner Larry Arnold during the winter, have been coming along nicely at Claremore and I figure that at least two of them will make the grade.

Cooper Coming Back.

"I had the chance yesterday to buy the release of a Three-Eye league pitcher, who wone two-thirds of his games for a tailend club last summer, but was compelled to turn it down. The reason was that Guy Cooper is just about to come back to the club, after saying all winter that he intended to stay in California.

"Cooper has been using his salary arm in the winter league out on the coast and earning a rating as the best pitcher in the loop. He has been pitching only one game a week, a system which seems to fit Cooper's case. Given a good rest between games, Cobper ought to be a consistent winner for the Links this year and his coming will be a big boost for the club.

Pallas and Pillette.

"Al Pallas and Ted Pillette already are in physical condition to go the full route. Both are in fine fettle and confident they will go better than ever. Pallas has taken on considerable weight, which adds to his speed and effectiveness.

"Keenan impresses Zwilling as being the steady southpaw the Links were lacking last summer. This fellow has had a lot of baseball experience in leagues of higher class and Dutch expects Keenan to go great this year.

"Houck, former Western association right-hander, has been performing impressively, but Achenbach, former Michigan-Ontario league left-hander, has not been in prime health, so his attainment of pitching condition may be a trifle slow.

"With Marty and Cooper coming soon and McDonnell and Johnson youngsters, looking so good, Dutch figures he will be sitting pretty so far as pertains to the pitching.

Gunther Impresses Dutch.

"Fred Gunther's showing at Claremore has made a big hit with Dutch. Gunther was with the Links for several weeks two years ago, when he tried to play second base, but he was in poor health all the while and finally was returned to the Los Angeles club.

"Dutch has been using Gunther at the first sack and with fine results. Elliott, the first-baseman purchased by Larry Arnold from the Seattle club, has been acting as if he may not report, so Arnold is after another Coast league first-sacker. However, Zwilling is willing to stick by Gunther and use him at the first corner regularly, as Gunther has been hitting and fielding in fine style at Claremore.

Dutch Good As Ever.

"One of the big surprises I had at Claremore was the playing ability displayed by Dutch, who has been whacking line drives to the fences and covering the outfield with the speed and zipp of a youngster. My own opinion is that Dutch is so cracking good that the Links simply can't afford to have him out of the lineup a single day. Dutch does his regular stuff in the outfield, but anybody who hints that he lacks class at the first corner should take another guess.

"Although Brucker, one of our last year's catchers, is on the way to Claremore, after holding out, the Links have purchased another catcher.

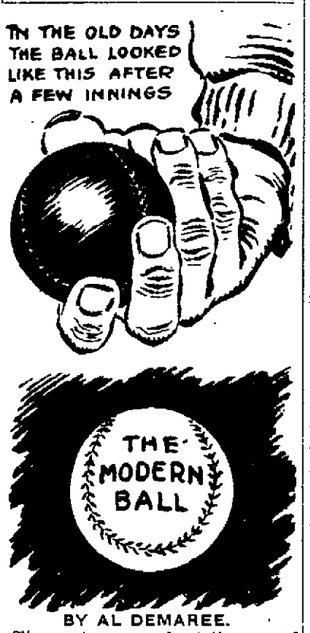

Catcher Kaufman Bought.

"Kaufman, with the pennant-winning Spartanburg, S. C., club in the South Atlantic league, has been bought by the Links. I closed the deal Wednesday in Kansas City and Kaufman left at once for Claremore to report to Dutch. That gives Zwilling a staff of four catchers from which to choose two regulars."

"Groundkeeper John Cronin, formerly with the Tulsa club, has been at Claremore the past two weeks, but will show up in Lincoln late this week and promptly get busy putting everything in readiness at Landis Field for the Lincoln games."

Secretary Moon today expressed the appreciation of the Lincoln club as a result of the chamber of commerce directors in inviting the Links and Oklahoma City Indians to a special baseball luncheon on April 27, the opening day at Landis Field

Players Put Black on Ball Early in Game

BY AL DEMAREE.

The controversy about the use of resin by pitchers gives the old-time ball players a big laugh.

The so-called "Emery Ball" was used for years before it was condemned in a great blare of publicity for possessing freak attributes that even its users were not aware of. Ten years ago the same ball that was tossed out by the umpire at the beginning of a game was still in use when the ninth inning closed.

After the first inning it was as black as an undertaker's derby. The pitcher and infielders had changed its color by a mixture of tobacco juice, resin, licorice and dirt. On a dark day it was almost impossible to see. And still they had some pretty good hitters in those days. Delehanty, Burkett, McGraw, Chief Meyers, Larry Doyle, La Joie, Honus Wagner and numerous others made quite a few base hits.

And today the ball has to be white as snow. If it has the slightest blemish or abrasion, it is tossed out. There must be an interesting difference in the baseball bills of the league today when twenty or more balls are used in a game, and in the old days, when only one, two or three were used.

Helen's Game Gets Better At Riviera

NICE, March 25.—(I. N. S.)—Helen Wills left the Riviera today for Italy, carrying with her the admiration and respect of all Riviera tennis fans.

Miss Wills has improved her game tremendously while on the Riviera and despite her strenuous campaign, she appears as fresh as when she arrived.

In Italy, Miss Wills will engage in several exhibition matches and Premier Mussolini is anxious to see her play in Rome.

Mlle. Lenglen is back here, but is still pale and nervous and more concerned with dancing than tennis. She says she does not intend to play in tennis singles again before the Wimbledon tournament in June

Brown Suits Up For Grid Grind On Spring Squad

"Jug" Brown, varsity quarterback during the 1926 Cornhusker football campaign joined the spring training squad Wednesday afternoon. Brown's appearance with the spring gridders was delayed while the football and basketball letter man was making up some military science requirements.

Brown was in at a halfback position during the Wednesday workout. Bronson calling signals. Adrian Wostoupal and Beck completed the backfield.

The first string line included Holmes at center, Lucas and McMullen at guards, Stodds and Grow at tackles, Krall and Jolley at ends.

Muny Gas, Lincoln	2,385
Tip-Top Bakery, Lincoln	2,350

A battery of Lincoln bowlers and a delegation of Falls City ten-pin artists combined Wednesday evening to pry the lid off the eleventh annual Nebraska state bowling tournament, now in progress at the Saratoga alleys.

When the last squad had completed its turn at the drives near the midnight hour, the Harlan club team was setting the pace in the five-man event with a collection of 2,516, an assortment, however, that was hardly figured to land in the money.

The Hardy Furnitures fronted the Lincoln representation, the capital city entries Wednesday being recruited for the most part from the Booster league. The Hardy total of 2,424, while probably outside the big money should get the Furniture five in line for a squad of the Booster squad, four prizes being hung for teams in that class.

A large crowd was on hand Wednesday evening to watch the tourney swing into action and another large turnout is expected tonight when twelve Lincoln teams roll their team event, the Thursday program being monopolized by capital city bowlers.

Monte Kiffin of Lincoln and O. F. Lang of Falls City were tied for first honors in the singles rolled Wedensday, each turning in a 531 score. The Lang-Reavis combination of Falls City had the high doubles total of 1,024. Only three doubles and eight singles were shot Wednesday. The scores:

Welch Will Lead Milford Tossers

MILFORD, Neb., March 25.—Forward Welch has been elected captain of the Milford high school basketball team of next season. Welch was a member of The Star's 1926 high school basketball roll of honor. In 19 games, Welch scored 130 points.

Only two regulars will be lost by graduation next May. Both of the guards are seniors. Milford went to the finals in class D at the state tournament.

Coach Don Hale announces the following letter awards for the 1926 season: Captain Scott, Welch, Gausman, Houderschelt, Danekas Griffee, Stolz, Rediger, Rembolt.

Wall Street Wise Heads "Dope" Pennant Winners

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, March 25.—(I. N. S.)—If you fancy that the winning of a world's championship no later than October, 1925, automatically creates a pre-race favorite in March, 1926, you simply should come right in out of the rain this minute. It is not a question of being all wet, you are saturated, according to Wall street.

The Pittsburgh Pirates won the world's title five months ago and were very impressive about it, at that, but they are not so highly esteemed as the New York Giants for the 1926 National league pennant, according to a list of prices quoted the writer today by the Wall street firm of J. S. Fried & Co.

Wise Heads Favor Mackmen.

The same quotations name the Philadelphia Athletics as a slight favorite for the American league pennant over the Washington Senators, who likewise happen to have won a championship in 1925. In other words, the "street" thinks it was all a terrible mistake.

Just how much it may be entitled to think it knows about the situation remains to be seen. It is the so-called thoroughfare on the "wise money," and is supposed to know everything about everything. However, there seems to have been one rather unimportant exception. It failed to obtain advance information on the Wall street explosion.

Smile On Giants' Chance.

Anyhow, it will quote you $7 against $5 that the Giants do not win in the National league and as much as $8 against $5 that the Pirates will finish out of the lead. Both are quoted 1 to 2 shots to win, although why the Pirates should be rated with the Giants as a possible winner and below them as a possible loser is a bit beyond my conventional reach.

Equally mystifying is the fact that the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds, generally regarded as hot possibilities, are rated below the Brooklyn Dodgers. The street has set a price of 2½ to 1 on the Dodgers' head for reasons not quite as clear as Brown's mixture.

Brown's Fail To Appeals.

Neither are the St. Louis Browns regarded as an appealing proposition in the American league, most of the money having gone down on the Athletics at 5 to 9 and the Senators at 5 to 8. The remainder of the fields in both leagues are held anywhere from 4 to 1 to 3 to 1, the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago Cubs rating the latter price without a play of any kind.

In naming the Pirates and Senators as second choices, the "street" apparently is playing a hunch, plus the knowledge that precedent is somewhat against champions, even good ones.

Champions Seldom Repeat.

In all the years since the modern world series was begun in 1903, no less than twelve of the twenty-one world's champions have failed to win the pennant in their own league the following year. And of the forty-four pennant winners between 1903 and 1924, twenty-seven have failed to repeat the next year.

However, I cannot seem to forget that the Pirates are supposed to be something of a ball club.

PAULSON VICTIM OF WEAK KNEES

Iowa Battler Runs Out Of Mitten Battle With Tiny Moser.

Charley Paulson, Sioux City, Ia., heavyweight glove-whirler — the man who once knocked Wayne "Big" Munn flat on his shoulder-blades—has done a run-out on the Company I boxing promoters of Lincoln.

The Iowa husky was dated up to exchange socks with Tiny Moser, Hickman gladiator, in one of the bouts on next Monday night's bill at the City auditorium, but today the bad news broke loose that Charley's nerve had weakened, wherefore he had declared himself out.

Matchmaker Duffield, acting for the Company I Guardsmen, announced Thursday that he was hot on the trail of another opponent for the Hickman heavyweight and was hopeful of connecting up with an Omaha battler of heavy persuasion who will come to Lincoln next Monday and face the Hickman battering ram.

Saunders Heads for Norfolk.

Jackie Saunders, "Dixie Cyclone," who is carded to square off against Donnie Dundee in the eight-round semi-windup of the Monday bill, headed into Lincoln Wednesday night, worked out in a local gym and speeded out of town Thursday morning to fill a hurry-up ring engagement at Norfolk.

John Kilmartin, state boxing commissioner, waived the rule which forbids the bunching of bouts, as the Norfolk promoters had lost one of their prime cards and were in dire need of a substitute. Saunders, in fact, was requested by the commissioner to appear in Norfolk and round out the bill.

Billy Hale of Lincoln accompanied Saunders to Norfolk to act as Jackie's second. Saunders will square off against O'Donnell, St. Paul, Minn., heavyweight, in an eight-rounder in the north Nebraska town.

Varsity Track Trials Friday

The first of a series of varsity track trials preliminary to the Kansas relays will be held at the Memorial stadium Friday afternoon. Events will start at 4 p. m. and all members of Coach Henry F. Schulte's squad will be in action, a "color meet" being included in the program.

HASTINGS LAGS IN BALL PARK DRIVE

Failure of Campaign Means That Nebraska Loop Will Not Reorganize.

Still Chance That Nebraska City May Come In To Complete League.

Nebraska State league prospects were fringed with a cloud of doubt today. Although reorganization plans were definitely drafted at a meeting in Lincoln a week ago, with Grand Island, Norfolk, Fairbury and Beatrice declaring their readiness to take membership and York stepping out as if it was equally prepared to apply for a franchise, the situation at Hastings continues to provoke confusion.

Hastings Is Lagging.

James E. Beltzer of Lincoln, who has been most active in urging league reorganization, admitted Thursday that Hastings has been making no tangible progress in the direction of putting over its new ball park project.

Beltzer returned to Lincoln last night from a two days' stay in the Adams county capital and announced that the prominent Hastings men who had announced their intention to get behind the park drive were taking things easy at their desks.

Perhaps Nebraska City.

"I agreed to wait until Friday night for Hastings to complete its campaign on behalf of a new ball park," Beltzer said, "and Friday will be the last day of grace. If Hastings isn't prepared to talk business on that date, the league reorganizers will drop the Adams county metropolis.

"I was informed today that Nebraska City may be available and if plans work out in the Otoe county town, we may yet be able to round up a six-club circuit, including Grand Island, Norfolk, York, Beatrice, Fairbury and Nebraska City. But if Nebraska City is not interested, the reorganization may have to wait another year."

Ralph Becker Will Head Broncho Five

HASTINGS, Neb., March 25.—Ralph Becker, guard, will captain the 1927 Hastings college basketball team. Becker was a guard on the Hastings high quintet in 1923 and 1924. Becker's home is at Glenvil.

Anthony South Hi Pilot.

OMAHA, Neb., March 25.—Ted Anthony, forward, has been elected captain of the 1927 South high cagesters.

Stecher Assures New York Commission of His Willingness to Come to Grips With Man Whom He Refused to Meet in Boston; Tony Sticks to Charge Joe Was "Framed."

CLEVELAND, O., March 25.—Joe Stecher, Nebraska's heavyweight champion wrestler, said here last night through his manager, that he would wrestle Joe Malcewicz at New York in accordance with the order of the New York state athletic commission. Malcewicz is the "unknown opponent" from whom Stecher is alleged to have run away in Boston.

In making the announcement, Anton Stecher, who runs the business part of his brother's engagements, said the promoter of a match in Boston failed to pay the guarantee in advance as agreed upon and then tried to shift referees. "That is the truth in that affair," Anton said.

COST UNI. SUM TO STAGE MEET

Athletic Department Foots $9,500 Deficit To Make Tourney Success.

The University of Nebraska athletic department absorbed a deficit of approximately $9,500 in making it possible for Nebraska high school athletes from all parts of the commonwealth to attend the state basketball championships held in Lincoln early this month.

The university athletic department underwrote the railroad and necessary Pullman fare for all competing teams. Checks covering the refund will be mailed Nebraska high schools next Monday, according to announcement made by Herbert D. Gish, acting director of athletics.

Gish Sends Letters.

Director Gish, in his letter to Nebraska high schools, states that the total railroad and Pullman fares of the 339 competing teams amounted approximately to $19,500. General expenses totaled about 2,000, making the total expense in the neighborhood of $21,500.

Total gate receipts for the three days amounted to about $12,000, making a total deficit of $9,500.

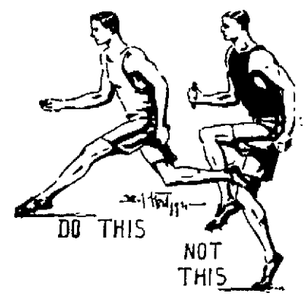

Greatest In History.

"The 1926 tourney was the largest in history," comments Director Gish. "A total of 341 teams was entered and of this number 339 teams actually competed. During the tourney only one formal protest on classification and one on a game that had been played were made. No protests were settled satisfactorily to the teams concerned.

"Facilities for handling the tourney will be greatly improved next year. The fieldhouse will be completed, which means that six playing floors, with lockers and dressing rooms for 2,000 contestants, will be available. Lincoln's two new hotels, which will be completed this summer, will [illegible] tion, 500 additional rooms being available.

TRACK SECRETS

BY SOL METZGER.

WHEN WARMING UP.

Nearly every time you attend a track meet you will see the entries in the races warm up a bit on the track just before they start. About every one of them will jog with an up and down motion of the legs. The leading track coaches have come to the conclusion that this sort of jogging is wrong, and that the runner, other than a sprinter, should warm up exactly as he runs—by taking long easy strides forward without kinking the knees. This method actually warms up—that is, makes pliable—the muscles that will be used in the race. Jogging up and down does not do so.

Market Quotations

GRAIN MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 25.

Wheat closed with substantial gains, despite a sinking spell in the late trading. Fresh buying developed in the last few minutes and the market closed strong 1⅛ to 1⅜c higher with corn ⅛@¼c up, and oats at ⅜@½c gain.

Owing chiefly to an increase of selling pressure from eastern sources and associated with renewed weakness of the stock market in New York, wheat values suffered a late setback today. Profit taking on the part of today's early buyers of wheat counted also as bearish factor on the wheat market as the day drew to an end. On the other hand export demand today for both North American wheat was fairly brisk, with total purchases of about 700,000 bushels.

WHEAT—Scored an early upturn in price here today influenced by unexpected strength of the Liverpool market and by a decided falling off in this week's estimated shipments from Argentina, total shipments being only 2,516,000 bushels against 3,364,000 bushels last week. According to leading authorities, here the failure of Argentina this year as a source of wheat supply is emphasized by the fact that North America is shipping wheat to Brazil whereas the millers in Brazil normally draw their supplies from Argentina.

Chicago opening prices 1½ to ⅞c higher, May, (new) $1.55⅝@1.55½ and July, $1.35@1.35¾, were followed by material further gains.

CORN—Corn and oats were easy, owing to evident absence of demand. After opening unchanged to 1c higher, May 72¼@72½c, the corn market underwent a moderate general sag.

Corn showed a heavy undertone the greater part of the day and although holding within relatively narrow limits reacted quickly after a small bulge early. Eastern shipping demand here was only fair, but there was sufficient buying of offerings on the spot here to an advance of the basis of 1 to 2c as compared with May. There were claims of some corn export business at the seaboard.

OATS—Sarted unchanged to ⅜c off. May 38⅜@38⅝c, but later rallied somewhat.

PROVISIONS—In line with hog values, the provisions market was steady.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 25.

Liquidation of stocks continued on a large scale in today's market, but strong buying support was apparent for some of the high grade industrial issues. Calling of about $10,000,000 additional in loans which sent the call money renewal rate to 5 per cent, and a sharp break of over 7 points in Baldwin had a depressing effect on speculative sentiment. Bear traders had little difficulty in picking out weak spots. Union Bag & Paper being hammered down 6 points, Fleischmann 6¾ and Allied Chemical, Columbia Gas, Foundation company, National Dairy Products and General Asphalt 3 to 4¾ points. Renewal of selling of such issues as U. S. Steel common, Mack Truck and Hudson failed to break them below yesterday's low levels. While short selling was aggressively conducted in a few issues known to be a weakened technical position most of the selling was said by commission houses to represent liquidation by holders of long stocks, many of whom have been disappointed at the apparently poor recuperative power of the market. Trading was about in the same volume as yesterday, total sales in the first three hours running slightly over 1,600,000 shares.

Confused price movements characterized the opening of today's stock market. Several high priced issues such as Mack Truck, Woolworth, Coca Cola and General Electric opened 1 to 2 points higher while fresh liquidation took place in a number of motors and speculative issues. Hudson and Dodge Brothers each showed initial declines of 1 point. In view of yesterday's sharp reaction which carried the industrial average to another low level for the year, trading was of a nervous character.

Stock prices turned heavy again soon after the opening when weakened marginal accounts were liquidated in large numbers. Most of the initial gains were materially reduced or wiped out. New low prices for the year were established in the first few minutes of trading by Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies, Fleischmann and Worthington Pump, Kresge Department Stores, preferred, ordinarily inactive, broke 11 to 80, also a new low. Foreign exchanges opened firm. Demand sterling ruled around $4.85⅞ and French francs were again above 3.50c.

The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 2,500,000 shares.

Talks To Club On Camp Life

Dr. Dr. J. Stanley Welch was the speaker Thursday at the noon luncheon of the Knife and Fork club in the Garden room of the Lincoln hotel. He used colored slides to illustrate his talk on recreational activities conducted by the Boy Scouts at Camp Quivira, the girls camp at Crete and Camp Kiwanis at Milford.

Dr. Welch dwelt particularly on the Camp Fire girls activities, showing virtually all of the activities incidental to camp life. The pictures also showed the buildings at the camp along with the scenic beauties. He emphasized the safeguards which have been thrown about the place and asked the co-operation of the club members in forwarding the interests of Camp Fire.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP)—Movement of corn is moderate and the trades do not look for increased receipts for some time. A local shipper reported the best eastern demand for some time, confirming a reported sale of 90,000 bushels. He said one car was going to Wisconsin, however.

Reports from the southwest on corn prospects indicate favorable conditions for plowing and planting.

The absence of general outside speculation and the absence of pronounced opinions on the part of large speculators, who switch from the long to the short side of wheat almost daily, are factors in the present nervous grain markets, it is claimed.

R. W. Kinyon, crop expert for a Chicago firm, wired that from Topeka, Kas., to Fort Worth, Tex., wheat has a very good color, with the stand about 60 per cent perfect and the remainder good. He reported corn planting started in the far south and sufficient moisture for the present.

Wheat stooling is satisfactory in the south central and southeastern counties of Kansas, says the weekly weather report. The grain is barely holding its own in the northwest, where rain is needed. Dust storms were reported in parts of Kansas and Nebraska yesterday.

John Barrett has been advised from New York that some eastern mills were contemplating shutting down because of the slow demand for flour. If it is done, it will be the first time in ten years that conditions forced such measures.

Over 7,400 Pheasants Received— The total number of pheasants trapped in central Nebraska and shipped to Lincoln for redistribution has now reached 7,424. It may be increased to 9,000 or 10,000 before the time limit expires on March 31, as birds are still coming in at the rate of several hundred a day. Chief Game Warden O'Connell has notified all pheasant trappers that they must cease operations by that date, so the fowls wil not be molested during the nesting season.

the girl with a wound in her right temple and Goodrich shot through the head. Goodrich died soon after admission to a hospital, but the girl lingered and was able to tell of the tragedy.

H. H. Tyndale of Salt Lake City, a fellow student and chum of Goodrich, declared that jealousy could have been the only motive for the crime as Goodrich had not been out of funds.

"John was terribly in love with Alice," said Tyndale. "Alice broke the engagement a year ago. When John returned from America recently Alice told him that it was all over forever but she wanted them to be good friends. However, John was sure he would re-win her. He believed that the lure of dancing had brought about the estrangement and that it would pass."

Well Known In Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., March 25. — (By the Associated Press.)—Alice Fitzner, slain in Berlin today, was well known as among Cleveland dancers and in theatrical circles. She left here three years ago for Germany to study ballet dancing after studying under a Cleveland instructor for several years.

Miss Fitzner visited her parents in Lakewood, a suburb, for two months last summer. Friends said she appeared much in love with John Goodrich, who shot her, and said she was soon to marry him.

Born in Paris twenty years ago, Miss Fitzner came to this country with her parents when a few years old. She left high school to devote her time to dancing, continuing her schooling under a private tutor. Because of her ability as a ballet dancer she was made assistant instructor at a school of expression when she was but 16 years old.

Miss Fitzner spent about a year studying at Paris before going to Berlin.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed by her parents, who indicated they might bring her body to Lakewood for burial.

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Lonesome Kate's Problem.

Dear Minerva: I am a reader of your paper and enjoy it very much. I have come to you for help, and kindly advise me.

Now, Minerva, a year and one-half ago I met a young man who loved me dearly, and wanted to be wed soon. I refused as I was young, and postponed it till this year. He then left for another state and we continued letters for about six months. Then he quit writing to me all at once.

I wrote several times, but I never heard, or saw anything of him for a year. He promised to return this spring and settle down. Do you think he will? How can I find out what ever became of him? Did he forget me. He promised he never would. We were not engaged. Lonesome Kate.

A. Of course, spring has just come by the calendar, and it is scarcely here in our understanding of it Kate. He sounds to me like the youth who plays and runs away, easily caught by a new face, won by the girl nearby, unstable, incapable of an enduring and sincere afection. He wrote you until he became acquainted in the new city and then he stopped, forgetting all the promises he had made to you.

You were not engaged, and of course he need not return on that account, but I believe a thoroughly honorable boy would tell you if he had found a new love or that he did not intend to return to your city. He doesn't appear to be of the stuff of which good husbands are made, and try to think you are fortunate in not marrying him. If you really care for him, it will not be easy at first, but let your common sense prevail enough to realize that a man who isn't true before marriage will have a very hard time to be true after the ceremony.

I fear he has forgotton, in spite of his promise, and I want you to forget, too. Go out with the other young people you know, and learn to be thankful that you didn't marry him last year, and that you had the discretion to wait, which in your mind was undoubtedly a kind of test of his love.

Mother is Her Pal.

Dear Minerva: I would like to write a reply to the letter signed "Kolla." I read all your Mail, but never did read a letter that made me boil like this one did.

You say that boys don't care for the clothes a girl wears. Well, it's too bad if they don't. I wonder if a boy wants to go with a girl dressed out of date. You say the styles change too often to keep up with them. It looks as though a girl could have a new dress once or twice a year any way. I don't think that they change that often.

But don't get it in your head that boys don't like or make remarks about the girls' clothes. Because I have heard more than one make the remarks. Why do boys try to dress their very best. Why do they paste down their hair? Why do they keep their shoes shined? Why do they keep their clothes all pressed? Why don't they go in a clean pair of overalls

I don't think a mother has so much to worry about. If she is reasonable with her daughter, and tried to understand her, If her girl comes home and tells her mother all about her good times, what happened, she doesn't need to worry, that is, if a girl takes her mother as a pal and the mother don't treat her like a stepdaughter, and when the girl wants a new dres says "Try and get it," I think that there surely won't be any room for worry.

I am a girl of seventeen and I go quite often, have good clothes, am thought a lot of. I am good looking, and my mother is my pal.

When I come home I tell her everything. Tell her about the show, party, or whatever it is. She is very good to me, and never kicks when I want some new clothes. And I am sure she hasn't any room for worry. You don't have to treat a girl like a dog, so she won't cause you worry. Mother's Pal

Actions Causing Talk.

Dear Minerva: As others are bringing their troubles to you, would you be so kind and give mine consideration.

I am a young married woman, considered good looking, especially by men folks. I like fine clothes and stepping out, as they call it.

My husband and I own and manage a restaurant in a small Nebraska town, and our financial condition does not enable us to own a car.

A gentleman friend of ours, a single man, quite prosperous in business, has a fine car, latest model. In our line of business requiring early and late hours, it is impossible for both to get away, and with my husband's consent I attend public entertainments, take auto rides quite frequently with our friend, and as our friend is quite well to do he buys me luxuries in the line of clothes that I could not have otherwise.

Now while this is agreeable to us concerned, especially to myself, it is causing a great deal of talk of a scandalous nature, especially amongst various women's clubs, one of which I am a member, but do not attend regularly.

Our town minister calls at the homes of his flock quite often and makes lengthy visits regardless of absence of men folks of respective homes, and nothing is said about this. I must admit, however, that he is a gentleman in all ways as far as I know, although I am not a member of his church. Is it a minister's duty to make these calls or merely a privilege?—Modernized.

A. Did you epect that last paragraph to distract my attention from the real idea behind this letter? It didn't, and I scarcely think the final sentences need answering. You know as well as I do that every minister, if he follows out the real purpose of his calling, knows his parishoners in their homes. There he can help them, talk and encourage the sick, pray with the dying, cheer the discouraged, hearten the dobuters, be a part of their real lives. Thousands of people in this world depend on the weekly visits of their minister as their only hold on hope and sanity. In church he sees them but superficially, and some not at all. Some of the finest and most beneficial parts of his service are carried out in the home.

The minister of your town isn't the blameworthy person — it is yourself, and the husband who allows you to be so indiscreet, as a very mild term. You don't need me to tell you that you are playing with fire, with edged tools, and that you will be burned and cut, even though you are getting a lot of temporary, if fearful, pleasure out of your present actions.

The idea of a married woman going out with another man, even with her husband's consent, when he is working and trying to make a living, is abhorrent to me, but the thought of you accepting luxuries from him is positively repulsive. Don't you see that this 'gentleman' isn't disinterested, isn't merely a philanthropist, and that some day he will demand some sort of payment for his gifts, for the entertainments, for the rides?

From the statement that these gifts are accepjtable, "especially to me," I gather your husband is not wholly pleased. Certainly he wouldn't be, and I rather imagine you have browbeaten him into getting your own way, rather than that he smiles with pleasure as you go out so constantly with the single man. If you want a happy old age and a peaceful present, do give up this man, and stay with your husband, as you have made no complaint about him

When this friend demands his compensation for his gifts and time, don't be surprised if your husband isn't there to help you, and silence the tongues that wag, not without reason, as I see it. The friend may not be as true as you think him, and the husband may seem a very safe and substantial person when that time comes, and you will suddenly learn to appreciate him, when scandal attacks your name. Better think a little of him now and of your future self, and of the husband who is very apt to turn at the moment you want to count on him.

I don't believe in married women being treated as slaves, or tied to their husbands, but I certainly do believe in fair play. You aren't playing square with your husband, and you can't expect square treatment from him in that day of reckoning which is coming to you. And you won't get much from the "gentleman friend."

Could She Be Happy?

Dear Minerva: You have helped me several times before, as well as my friends, and I want to thank you now for this help, and also the good advice you give others that oftentimes greatly benefits all your readers.

My problem is this—a certain boy thinks a great deal of me. He knows that he is four years younger than I, but he cares anyhow. I am twenty-three

I am asking your opinion of whether we would be happy or not. I know of several similar cases, where there is happiness in spite of this difference in age. In fact, there are two young couples nearby and both cases, the man is old and steady beyond his years. They seem to love each other as much as anybody.

This boy who cares for me has had a wide experience, as his mother died when he was a small boy, and at the age when most boys are rollicking gaily through high school, he was out earning his own way. He is a good boy and sends his money to his sister, although that is not necessary any more. He respects good womanhood, and longs for a home of his own, as he has never had a real home.

I feel sure I could make him happy, and he seems to think the world of me.

But the question is, could I be happy myself? As long as I forget about age, I am all right, but when I think of that it gives me quite a shock. Still, I know others have done likewise, and found happiness.

Not only am I small and look young, but my actions are disgracefully young. I can not seem to grow up in spirit and attitude toward life. I sometimes get discouraged about his, too, for although I long for a home of my own. I also get such pleasure out of life the little childish things of life.

Should I religiously cultivate a stern and worldly intolerance or just make the best of it and journey through life with such a childlike gladness at the small beauties of life.

Do you think I shall find happiness. Have you ever heard of, or do you know personally of such a case? It's a funny old world, and hard to understand the tricky little god of love, isn't it?—CECILE.

A. Don't cultivate intolerance. Cecile, but be so happy and thankful that you can be delighted by the little pleasures, the small beauties, the thrills of living. Such delights are heaven sent gifts, and should be appreciated as such. It takes so much to please the most of the blase folks of today, that it is refreshing to find one who finds charm in the little things. As long as you aren't silly or too dreadfully childish in your actions, don't try to veneer your natural joy and spontaneity, but rather cling to them.

Since you are young in your nature, and the boy is old beyond his years, and knows the cost and value of money, you may find happiness. However, my dear, I wish you would wait for two years, until the boy is of age. No matter how young you are, and no matter how old he is, a boy of nineteen is only a boy, and he isn't as old mentally as you are. For the last half dozen years you've been growing faster than the boys of the same age, and even a steady, reliable, thoughtful boy can't outstrip you for a few years

You are both young enough to wait two years—and if your love is sincere it can stand the test. I know of a case where the girl is older than the man, and they are very happy. They were not married, however, until he was twenty-five and she twenty-nine, when they were both mature and both past the stormy times of the early twenties, and had reached a common mental level.

If you were older, I would say for you to marry, if you care for each other. As it is, I can only say "wait." He has had no home and can not appreciate all the responsibilities such an undertaking entails. That, and marriage, is a heavy burden to put on a nineteen-year-old boy, and it doesn't seem advisable. He's not a man, you know, even though he may have been doing a man's work.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Elizabeth Raugh and Ralph Buechner have been chosen joint advertising managers for the opera, "The Chocolate Soldier." The general business manager and the rest of the business and property staff will be appointed immediately after spring vacation. Meanwhile the cast is holding daily rehearsals in the auditorium.

Two insurance men talked to the class in business law last week. Fred Groth of the Fred Groth general insurance agency spoke on types of insurance. Ray Davis of the Mutual Insurance Co. of New York spoke on life insurance the following day. Each pointed out the merits of insurance and the benefits derived and its quality as an investment.

The three Links' contests are almost over. The winners of the art, advertising and subscription campaigns are about over. The winner of each of these will receive a leather-bound annual, and the runners-up paper-bound copies. Pictures taken for the year book number over 350.

Plans for Joy Night, the high school fun night, are being completed. An extra hand bill advertising the night will be distributed. George Gant, business manager, has arranged for all ticket sellers, and the advertising and program work is being carried on. Preliminary try-outs for stunts will be held April 8, and a final try-out April 13.

Beatrice Bryant was elected vice president of the all-girls' council and Mary Caldwell was elected secretary-treasurer of that organization. The president is Lois Hanning, who automatically becomes head of this organization as the highest girl officer in the student council. The council is planning a party for all girls of the school. Vivian Fleetwood was appointed chairman of the lost and found committee.

Rev. Ervine Inglis of the Vine Congregational church spoke to members of the Student club on "Easter" at their regular meeting. He pointed out that Easter and Christmas have their real significance in the fact that Jesus had given an everlasting light to the world.

CHIETA, Italy—(AP)—The fascist regime, championed by Roberto Farinacet, secretary of the fasicst party, won a crushing victory last night over its opponents, when five men accused of having kidnapped and slain Premier Mussolini's arch enemy, the socialist deputy Giacomo Matteotti, virtually escaped punishment at the end of their trial before a jury in the Court of Assizes. All but one subordinate plea submitted by the defense were upheld, while all the pleas of the prosecution were rejected

Opera Star Makes Triumphant Return To Old Home Town

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 25.—Mary Lewis, prima donna, home today.

Seven years ago Mary Lewis, stage struck, left on two hours' notice to join a road show. Few knew of her going. Few followed her career.

Today her return was all but that of a conquering hero. State and city officials and citizens vied to do her honor.

Tomorrow she was to sing for the home folks, sing the songs of the famous singers, with a few of the simple "homey" melodies. About her will be the people who knew her in her girlhood days as a choir singer in a little city church; people who knew her as a school girl, and those who knew her as a sweet girl graduate of the same high school in whose auditorium she will make her appegrance as an "arrived" grand opera star.

Rodres Begins Life Sentence

Jose Radres, who pleaded guilty last Saturday in North Platte to the murder of Ernest Ward on March 4, was brought to Lincoln Wednesday night and taken to the penitentiary this morning to begin his life sentence. He was in charge of Sheriff Berthe. The killing of Ward, it was testified at the trial, followed a fight between the two.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

CHICAGO — (AP) — A burglary charge against Mrs. Inez Osborne, filed Wednesday by Mrs. Beatrice Caine in addition to a charge of assault with intent to kill and announcement by Mrs. Osborne's attorney that he would file a breach of promise suit for $100,000 against John Caine, complicates the triangle developed when Mrs. Osborne beat Mrs. Caine over the head with a golf club to obtain her consent to divorce her husband. Judge Paddock concluded an attorney's argument by raising Mrs. Osborne's bond to $7,500 on the assault charge and setting a bond of $2,500 on the burglary complaint.

Lincoln Is Almost Free of Smallpox, Report Indicates

Lincoln's immunity to small-pox evidenced during the last three years, was emphasized Thursday when the first cases of the disease for the year 1926 was recorded.

Lincoln had only seven cases of small-pox in 1925, according to Dr. Chauncey F. Chapman, head of the city health department, while neighboring cities were hard hit by the disease. Omaha, for instance, had 800 cases, and Council Bluffs also had a large number.

Chicken-pox cases have increased during March, according to figures at the health department. There are now 22 cases on hand, while only 7 were left over from February. Twelve were released, leaving a total of 27 new cases this month.

Whooping cough shows a total of 79 cases on hand; 69 of them were new cases this month, and 16 were released. Twenty-eight were left over from February.

There are 5 cases of scarlet fever now recorded. Eight cases were received during March, 3 were left over from last month, and 6 were released.

Spring vacation begins Friday, March 26, and ends April 5. Nine weeks remain in the second semester.

Hair Dry, Brittle from Constant Waving, Curling

The constant curling and waving demanded by present styles in bobbed hair, slowly burns the color, lustre and very life from the hair, leaving it dry, faded, brittle, and full of dandruff; then the hair roots shrink and hair falls out fast

Since girls just must curl and wave the hair to appear their prettiest, try "Danderine" to offset any bad effects. After the first application your hair will take on new life and that healthy, youthful lustre, become incomparably soft, wavy and appear twice as thick and abundant. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears.

A 35-cent bottle of refreshing "Danderine" from any drug store or toilet counter will do wonders for any girl's hair. It goes right to the roots, invogorates, nourishes and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant—Advertisement

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face — dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for Calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c—Advertisement.

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.
